Achieved By Kissinger After 32 Days

Syria, Israel Peace Pact Reported

JERUSALEM (UPI) — An Israeli government source said today Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has achieved an agreement in principle between Israel and Syria and that the details are being completed for announcement later tonight.

The Israeli sources said the breakthrough came Tuesday when Israel dropped its insistence on a Syrian guarantee against Arab guerrilla infiltration from across the frontier and accepted instead a U.S. offer of political support in the event of Israeli retaliation.

The agreement was a major diplomatic success for Kissinger, who has roamed the area for 32 days trying to bring it about in negotiations described as harder than those on Vietnam.

Israel radio said that if no last minute hitches arise, the agreement will be announced first in Washington, presumably by President Nixon, and then, simultaneously in Jerusalem and Damascus.

Throughout the day, messages passed back and forth between Jerusalem and Damascus with Kissinger trying to get the clarifications sought by the Israeli cabinet.

The details were still not complete by late afternoon but the sources close to the negotiations expected they would be cleared up by the time of an announcement scheduled for later today after an Israeli cabinet meeting to decide yes or no.

A picture-taking ceremony was set for 8 p.m. at Prime Minister Golda Meir's house and Kissinger was to be there for what was described as a party afterwards.

Israel's next prime minister promises 'continuity and change.' Story on page 36.

Israeli newspapers said the United States removed one of the final barriers by agreeing to support Israel politically in case it had to retaliate against Arab guerrilla attacks across the cease-fire line with Syria.

Syria had refused to give direct guarantees against guerrilla infiltration into Israel from its territory.

Israeli radio said planes were standing by to exchange prisoners of war.

The agreement was designed to end the so-called war of attrition on the Golan Heights, now in its 79th day with sporadic artillery exchanges reported, and to pull back the troops from a cease-fire line.

Israeli officials said the announcement following the cabinet meeting would be made by Information Minister Shimon Peres, who said earlier that "there are no real differences" between Israel and Syria on the agreement.

The Syrians announced their acceptance of the major points late Tuesday but said there were still minor issues to be ironed out.

The agreement is known to provide for an Israeli withdrawal from 325 square miles of Syrian territory captured in the October Middle East war plus a slice of the Golan Heights taken in the 1967 Six-Day War.

It is patterned after the Israeli-Egyptian disengagement agreement completed by Kissinger in January — including a ceasefire line, a buffer zone between the opposing forces, a thinning out of weapons and men in zones on both sides of the buffer, and a United Nations force to police it, Israeli officials said.

Panel Will Issue More Subpoenas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee has decided to hurl still more subpoenas at President Nixon.

Meeting separately behind closed doors Tuesday, Republicans and Democrats on the panel agreed to support the issuance of subpoenas for more tapes when the impeachment committee meets in public session Thursday.

Nixon already has defied three subpoenas for tapes, sending transcripts in response to one and nothing in response to the last two.

Privately members of both parties concede the new subpoenas are likely to be futile. But they consider the evidence vital, and they don't know how else to get it.

They talk, too, of counting it against Nixon as an impeachable act if he continues to "stonewall" the committee.

Republican Lawrence F. Hogan, Md., even said he might support seeking a contempt of Congress citation against Nixon at the end of the line if he doesn't comply.

Related story on page 5.

House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes, Ariz., who had said earlier that Nixon might consider resigning, came to the President's defense Tuesday.

He called the committee "mesmerized" with tapes. He said tapes were only "hearsay evidence" and the panel should draw its conclusions by taking testimony directly from witnesses — a process that could add months.

Members of both parties brushed off Rhodes' criticism. Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N. J., said the panel had a "duty" to subpoena vital evidence.

The Democrats, at their caucus, hoping to bring public opinion to bear against Nixon, also decided, according to Rodino, to:

—Publish a transcript of the panels' seven closed sessions over the past three weeks and today's closed session. Material which could jeopardize the upcoming trials of Watergate defendants will be edited out.

—Conduct large parts of future hearings in public session, before television cameras, probably starting next week.

—Write yet another letter to Nixon, telling him he is in noncompliance with last week's subpoenas and perhaps warning of dire consequences if he doesn't change his course.

Fish Favors Letter of Complaint

(Special to The Daily Freeman)
By HUGH REYNOLDS

WASHINGTON

If at first you don't succeed in penetrating that "stonewall" around the Oval Office, goes the current thinking in the House Judiciary Committee, try something a little milder.

That something, according to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. of Millbrook, will be another letter to President Nixon asking him to comply with Judiciary Committee subpoenas for more White House tapes.

"I think this letter will be longer than the very brief letter that was sent a few weeks ago just announcing the non-compliance," Fish said. "It will, however, be a mild letter and I think you'll see far more Republican support than was the case in the first letter."

The "first letter" Fish refers to was brief and to the point in telling Nixon that he had not complied with a Judiciary Committee request for some 40 White House tapes by submitting instead some 1,300 pages of "edited" transcripts.

The 17 Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee refused to approve the contents of that letter and for the first time the committee split down political lines on an issue relating to Watergate.

In the meantime, President Nixon has taken a firm stance "stonewalling it" against submitting any further evidence to the Judiciary Committee. Nixon contends the committee has enough evidence from the White House — in addition to grand jury transcripts and Senate Watergate Committee evidence — to carry out its investigation.

Fish, following the Tuesday night caucus of Republican members of the Judiciary Committee, said he expects widespread Republican support for the letter to the President complaining about his refusal to give the committee more evidence.

Fish said the letter was one of several items discussed at the caucus preparatory to a meeting of the full Judiciary Committee on Thursday.

The Republicans also reasserted their objections to opening of the the impeachment proceedings to the public, contending it would be prejudicial to pending Watergate-related court action.

"A great deal of the evidence we have received is from the grand jury," Fish said. "It pertains to matters that are before the federal district court and could severely prejudice the rights of not only the defendants but the prosecution of the cases that are pending for trial."

The Judiciary Committee has been loath to call the participants (other than the President) in the Watergate investigation, noting that a number are under indictment and may resort to the Fith Amendment, making a mockery of Judiciary Committee hearings.

However, Republican Minority Leader James Rhodes of Arizona, is suggesting just that. Rhodes says the Judiciary Committee is "fascinated" with those White House tapes," and should instead begin to hear direct testimony from the actual participants.

President Nixon's reply to this latest communication from the Judiciary Committee, expected to be delivered early next week could be the determining factor on that issue.

Bumpers Ends Fulbright Career

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fast-rising political newcomer Dale Bumpers ran away with the Arkansas Democratic senatorial nomination and ended the 30-year career of J. W. Fulbright, one of the leading powers in American foreign policy.

The two-term Arkansas governor ran up almost a 2-to-1 victory margin Tuesday over Fulbright, who has been chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee for 15 years.

At the same time, 73-year-old Wayne Morse was winning the Democratic senatorial nomination for a political comeback in Oregon.

Morse, who like Fulbright was a leading Senate critic of U.S. Vietnam policy, will meet Sen. Robert Packwood in the fall. Packwood, who ousted Morse after 24 years in the Senate in 1968, was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

In Kentucky, another of the Democratic new faces, Gov. Wendell Ford, won the party's nomination to challenge Republican Sen. Marlow Cook in November. Both scored easy victories over token primary opposition.

Just four years ago, Bumpers was a school board member and city attorney in Charleston, Ark., a town of 1,500. But in 1970 he upset former six-term Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the Democratic primary and went on to oust incumbent Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

He won re-election in 1972.

Both Fulbright and Bumpers said they were surprised at the size of Bumpers' win.

Bumpers, 48, had called for new leadership in Washington to deal with problems such as inflation, energy, federal spending and post-Watergate political clean-up. Fulbright stressed his seniority and experience, but at 69 said he would "cheerfully accept" retirement if that was the voters' verdict.

With 2,626 of the state's 2,786 precincts reporting, Bumpers had 345,801 votes, or 65 per cent, to Fulbright's 187,718, or 35 per cent.

Morse, who was voted out at the height of his anti-Vietnam war effort, used the related theme of usurpation of constitutional power by the President, but said "the numbers of us opposed to it are increasing."

With 1,647 of the 2,514 Oregon precincts reporting, Morse had 89,211 votes, or 49.2 per cent, compared to 71,604, or 39.5 per cent, for his chief opponent in the four-way race, state Senate President Jason Boe.

In the Arkansas Democratic gubernatorial primary, former Rep. David H. Pryor, 39, of Little Rock held a bare majority of 51 per cent. Faubus was in second place with 33 per cent, followed by Lt. Gov. Bob Riley. Pryor must stay above 50 per cent to avoid a runoff.

In the Oregon gubernatorial race, state Sen. Victor Atiyeh scored an upset victory over Secretary of State Clay Myers in the Republican primary, while former state Treasurer Robert Straub led a field of 10 Democrats.

Republican Gov. Tom McCall is barred by Oregon law from seeking a third consecutive term.

With 3,139 of Kentucky's 3,268 precincts reporting, the 47-year-old Cook had 87.2 per cent of the Republican vote, and Ford, 49, had 84.8 per cent in the Democratic primary.

Duryea, Others Praise Bell

By LYNN MULVANEY

ELLENVILLE

"No," Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea does not want to be lieutenant governor, feeling he would be "more effective" in his role as legislative leader.

And, "yes," he is glad Ulster County Assemblyman H. Clark Bell has decided not to run for Congress, but to seek a fourth term in the Legislature, "where he has carved an enviable record with nearly 200 bills passed and 125 signed into law."

Keynote speaker at a $50 a ticket fund raising dinner for Bell at the Nevele Country Club Tuesday night, Duryea was one among a number of Bell's colleagues in the Senate and Assembly who came not only to pay tribute but to entertain the about 250 Bell supporters.

While guitar strumming, singing senators and assemblymen delighted dinner guests with folk parodies on legislative issues, Duryea found time to talk to the press saying, "I never said I was a candidate for governor" and, "I never said I would throw my support to Gov. Macolm Wilson. I will support the head of the ticket."

A strong contender for the Republican nomination for Congress from Ulster County's 27th District Assemblywoman Constance Cook of Ithaca was on hand, as was Sen. Roy Goodman of Manhattan and Assemblymen Peter Biondo, John McCarthy, Francis Boland and Vincent Riccio.

They with Duryea, agreed that Bell has "a quick grasp of the issues, retention of detail and solid grounding in the law and has been called upon time and again to carry complex, difficult bills on the floor of the Assembly."

State Legislature back in session to consider reapportionment. Story on page 3.

Duryea said that many times these bills have had sharp political overtones and have drawn the fire of Democrats' keenest sharp-shooters seeking to develop a campaign issue or embarrass the Republican majority by bringing about the defeat of a key measure.

But, Duryea said, "Clark has rarely lost such issues because of his uncanny ability to penetrate the opposition with straightforward analysis and clear articulation of some very complex legal language."

Bell, alluding to Watergate, said that "people can differentiate between national and state affairs and while national issues are important, what is more important are the quality of life, the services and the jobs we create in Ulster County."

Saying he doesn't know whether he is "conservative, liberal or moderate," Bell explained he sponsors bills which he feels will benefit his constituents.

County GOP chairman Albert Spada labeled Bell, "one of the greatest assets Ulster County ever had and he asked that voters have confidence in a crucial year and "disregard what we hear on the national scene.

"Let's take our assemblyman for what he has accomplished for Ulster County," he suggested.

Duryea, prior to the dinner, said he felt the economy is the prime issue this year, that Watergate will not have a serious effect on the state level, adding, "Let's forget the doomsayers saying the government is not working."

James Thompson, chairman of the Citizens for Bell, served as master of ceremonies and William Merrill was dinner chairman with Robert O'Reilly.

Among the many in attendance were Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago, Ulster County's three coroners, William S. Keyser, Arthur C. Chipp and Richard Buono. Also, a number of Ulster County Legislators and many Bell supporters.

Bell's entry into elective politics began in 1967 when he was a delegate to the Constitutional Convention.

First elected to the Legislature in 1968, he is a member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee and is said to be the GOP's leading expert on pension and personnel measures.

C-H Sued for Refunds

KINGSTON

A group of incensed Ulster County consumers have filed a class action lawsuit in State Supreme Court demanding that Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. eliminate the fuel adjustment charges from consumer bills — and refund what could amount to several million dollars in fuel adjustment surcharges paid by Mid-Hudson Valley residents since 1972.

State Surpeme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn, presiding at the Ulster County Court House in Kingston, signed papers Tuesday ordering Central Hudson to show cause why it should not be restrained from passing on higher fuel costs to customers.

The suit was filed by 15 members of the Concerned Consumers of Lower Ulster County and the Irate Consumers of Ulster County.

In addition to the declaratory judgment that fuel adjustment charges are illegal, the consumers are seeking:

— A permanent injunction against such charges;

— Recovery of all money paid by all Central Hudson customers for such charges;

— And an injunction prohibiting the utility from disconnecting power to any customer who refuses to pay the additional charges.

Mrs. Belle Sundeen, chairman of Concerned Consumers, maintains that between 4,000 and 5,000 customers have refused to pay the fuel adjustment charge. She said that she had been threatened with service disconnection for not paying her entire bill; she relented and paid the rest of her bill Tuesday, one day before the deadline. "At this point," said Mrs. Sundeen, "we don't want to do anything to jeopardize the lawsuit."

According to a Central Hudson spokesman, who would not comment directly on the specifics of the lawsuit, the utility's 188,000 customers paid an average of $4.63 in fuel adjustment surcharges in February. That represents about 25 per cent of the average total bill.

The utility, which claims it does not have the financial resources to pay the higher cost of fuel oil itself, must present its case in court on June 7.

Police Chief Hits Legion

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Police Chief James Howerton, irate over an American Legion Auxiliary policy barring handicapped girls from participation in Girls State, has mailed in his paid-up membership card.

Howerton, a former Legion post commander, also wrote a letter of protest to National American Legion Commander Robert E. L. Eaton of Indianapolis, Ind.

Howerton said he took the action after reading a news report that the auxiliary did not intend to change its policy for this year's "Democracy in Action" program June 15-23 at Capital University in Columbus. A Columbus school teacher had urged that the ban on handicapped girls be lifted.

An auxiliary spokesman explained that the rule against participation of handicapped girls was based on the belief that they would not be able to keep up with other girls in the week-long exercise in government.

"As a member of the American Legion I am returning my paid-up membership card as a symbol of protest in behalf of those who cannot protest on their own," Howerton said in his letter to Eaton.

He also protested that "we, as an organization, can condone excluding a child with sightless eyes, twisted limbs or unhearing ears from participating in our form of democracy.

"That we can say that the Constitution for which we fought to preserve does not apply to you because your body is not perfect, and we cannot take the extra time to push your wheelchair or guide you through an unlighted room.

"That we have reached that point in our society where compassion has been replaced with indifference.

"I would remind you that many of our own are handicapped because they believed strongly enough in our form of government that every person has the right to reach for the brightest star in the heaven . . . the right to reach for that star should not be denied to anyone."

Cab Driver Murder Trial Continues

Attorneys Clash Over Testimony

By WADE BURKHART

KINGSTON

A hot exchange between the prosecution and the defense enlivened the murder trial of George Carter in Ulster County Court Tuesday.

The clash came over the testimony of Mrs. Helen Pascoe, widow of Edward Pascoe, the 64-year-old Newburgh cab driver slain Aug. 28, 1973. Carter is charged with murder in connection with Pascoe's death.

Defense counsel Barry Lippman objected to Mrs. Pascoe testifying at all. He said defense was willing to stipulate that Pascoe had been murdered Aug. 28, 1973, and that Mrs. Pascoe's courtroom appearance would only "inflame the jury," and prejudice it against his client. County Judge Raymong J. Mino overruled the objection.

Assistant district Attorney Michael Kavanagh asked Mrs. Pascoe about a gold watch, inscribed "To Ed from the boys," which she said he was wearing on the day he was murdered. Lippman objected to that, saying he had thought Kavanagh was going to produce the watch, and no watch had been introduced into evidence.

Kavanah, loudly, called the objection "garbage," and said Lippman knew the watch had never been recovered. Mino overruled the objection, and Lippman, visibly upset, said he wanted all conversations between counsels "on the record" from then on.

In her testimony, Mrs. Pascoe, in a quiet but firm voice, said her husband had regularly carried "$80-100" with him, and that it was her husband's writing on a clipboard found in his empty taxi, which the prosecution has introduced as evidence.

She also testified that her husband wore a size 16-16½ shirt. A blue shirt was taken from Pascoe's body, State Police Trooper Ronald Koemm testified, and State Police Investigator Ralph Marcucio testified that the bloodstained shirt sent to him for testing at the State Police Albany laboratory was a "16L-16½L".

Koemm testified that several pieces of shirt were taken from Pascoe's body, and another found at a nearby location, and Marcucio testified that the pieces were all the same shirt.

Bruce Scott testified that he had noticed the empty taxi on Highland Avenue in Marlboro when he was on his way to Newburgh the day of the murder, and when he returned had notified the taxi company.

State Police Investigator Ed Zeboris testified that he had led the State Police search team which combed the area near Reservoir and Mountain Roads in Marlboro where Pascoe's body was found, and that his team had found a wallet with Pascoe's name in it. Mrs. Pascoe identified the wallet as her husband's.

State Police Investigator Wilfred Holik testified that he had tested the Pascoe wallet for fingerprints, and had found none. Koemm testified that he had found no prints on the outside of the taxi and those found on the inside could be matched to neither Pascoe, Carter, nor the youthful offender who was also alleged to have been involved in the murder.

The trial was scheduled to resume today.

Lawmakers to Consider Reapport

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A reapportionment plan was readied for legislative approval today that could result in the unseating of a veteran congressman and the replacement of four white lawmakers.

The plan, drafted by architects for the Republican majority of the legislature, charts new boundaries for Congressional districts in Brooklyn and Senate and Assembly districts in Brooklyn and Manhattan.

The U.S. Justice Department argued that the current boundaries discriminate against minorities. The districts are drawn in such a way that black neighborhoods are dispersed among districts that are predominately white, the Jusice Department said.

The lawmakers were called back to Albany to consider the reapportionment plan. They also may consider changes in rent controls — a topic that Gov. Malcolm Wilson said might be placed on the agenda of the special legislative session.

The reapportionment plan was seen as a threat to U.S. Rep. John Rooney, a 30-year congressman from Brooklyn. Planners extended his district into the heart of Bedford-Stuyvesant and stripped him of many white ethnic neighborhoods in Greenpoint and Bushwick. The white neighborhoods were added onto the district of U.S. Rep. Shirley Chisholm, a black who represents all of Bedford-Stuyvesant.

Also endangered were Assemblyman Franz Leichter of Manhattan, Assemblyman Peter Mirto of Brooklyn, and State Sens. Chester Straub and Carol Bellamy, both of Brooklyn. All are white.

Leichter picked up some neighborhoods in Harlem. Straub and Bellamy will share neighborhoods in Bedford-Stuyvesant now represented by Sen. Vander Beatty, a black. Mirtos' district will include neighborhoods in Brownsville. All of the affected lawmakers are Democrats.

The Justice Department said that the population of blacks and other minorities in Brooklyn and Manhattan entitled them to more representatives in the state legislature.

The Justice Department entered the case under terms of the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which requires federal approval of reapportionment plans for certain parts of the country with large minority populations and a history of voting discrimination.

Gov. Wilson said last week that rent control legislation could be on the agenda in the special session. The legislation would amend the rent-control bill approved in the regular session but not yet signed by Wilson.

The bill passed in the regular session has been denounced by tenants' groups for not placing new limits on rent increases for decontrolled apartments. On these apartments, controls are lifted when they are vacated by current tenants.

'Miss Jane Pittman' Tops Emmys

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A poignant drama tracing a black woman's path from slavery to the civil rights movement and two zany comedies were the big winners of television's "Best of the Year" awards.

Cicely Tyson was named actress of the year for specials Tuesday night for her performance in the title role of "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," and the show was named as television's outstanding special of 1973.

All of the performers, writers and directors competing for the newly established "Best of the Year" awards previously were announced Emmy winners.

"Thanks to all the Jane Pittmans of the world," Miss Tyson said during the 28th Emmy Awards, telecast by NBC from Hollywood's Pantages Theater. She won over Mildred Natwick of "The Snoop Sisters."

Alan Alda, the anti-establishment Army surgeon of "M-A-S-H," and Mary Tyler Moore, who portrays the bouyant assistant producer of a television news show on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," won as actor and actress of the year for series.

They beat out Telly Savalas of "Kojak" and Michael Learned of "The Waltons," Emmy winners as performers in dramatic series.

"M-A-S-H," an irreverent spoof of the Army set in wartime Korea, was selected the outstanding comedy series. The British production of "Upstairs, Downstairrs" was named the outstanding drama series.

Hal Holbrook was named actor of the year for specials for his portrayal of the skipper in "Pueblo." He won over Oscar winner William Holden of "The Blue Knight."

Michael Moriarty and Joanna Miles were named supporting actor and actress of the year for "The Glass Menagerie," which starred Katharine Hepburn.

"Columbo" was picked as the outstanding limited series.

"The Carol Burnett Show" and its star, Miss Burnett, won Emmys for the second consecutive year as the outstanding music-variety series.

Lily Tomlin and her special, "Lily," were honored for the best comedy-variety special.

"Marlo Thomas and Friends in Free to Be . . . You and Me" was named the outstanding children's special.

Robert Butler was named series director of the year for "The Blue Knight" and Dwight Hemion won specials director of the year for "Barbra Streisand . . . and Other Musical Instruments."

Emmys for outstanding achievement in sports programming went to "ABC's Wide World of Sports" and to its host, Jim McKay.

HAPPY WINNERS — Happy Emmy Award winners Mary Tyler Moore and Alan Alda meet the press after receiving their awards, for best Actress and Actor in a television series. Mary won for the "Mary Tyler Moore" show and Alan won for his part as the surgeon on the M-A-S-H TV show. (UPI)

Memorial Day...Traffic Jams

United Press International

The gasoline shortage that hit the United States this winter seems to have had little or no effect on Memorial Day weekend travelers, a UPI survey shows.

Inspired by reports of fully stocked gas stations, many motorists took the car out for the first long distance spin since the recent crisis faded. Massive traffic jams resulted in big cities when they all came home Monday night.

A key highway interchange at Bay City, Mich., was clogged for hours into the night as returning Detroiters inched homeward at 5 miles an hour. Cars were backed up for 30 miles. "Normal" holiday weekend traffic tieups were reported in Southern California. A spokesman for the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel District said traffic was higher than it was a year ago.

A spokesman for Lion Country, a wild animal park near Atlanta, said it was "far and away the best weekend of the year." Thirty thousand persons Saturday and 18,000 Sunday were reported at Six Flags Over Georgia, an amusement park. A spokesman there said, "We are ahead of projections for this time of the year."

The New York State Department of Commerce said tourist business was generally good, with some vacation communities rating it "one of the best early holidays in some years." The department said there were no reports of gasoline shortages.

Requests for travel information are up 47 per cent over last year, said one expert, Sid King of the Oregon Auto Club, and most people say they feel they can now plan for a "reasonable trip and be sure and find gas to get back home."

Robert Heck of the Chicago Motor Club said that 79 per cent of the requests for travel information last week were for trips of more than 500 miles. Disney World in Orlando, Fla., said it could not provide attendance figures for last weekend, but records indicated a 23.5 per cent drop in March, compared to 1973, while the April figures were within 1.5 per cent of the previous year and the last two weeks of April ran ahead of '73.

'Just Happened to Be There'

CHAPPAQUA, N.Y. (AP) — A 30-year-old Time, Inc. writer shot to death at a $75,000 hilltop home here apparently got caught in the emotional fallout of a friend's divorce.

Marilyn Daley of Oradell, N.J. was fatally wounded Tuesday in the home of her friend Audrey Ball. Mrs. Ball's ex-husband William, 50, was charged with the murder.

"She was in his way for some tragic reason—she just happened to be there," Mrs. Ball said. "He had been depressed. He was resentful of anyone who was in my world at the moment."

The Balls, who have an 8-year-old daughter, Tracey, have been divorced for a year. Ball, former president of a Bronx glass firm, has been living in Croton-on-Hudson, N.Y.

The two women were described as close friends. Both worked for Life magazine before it folded and both moved to other positions within Time, Inc.

Miss Daley went to Time's book division, first as a researcher and later as a writer. Mrs. Ball is a reporter for Time magazine.

Ball had spent the day with his daughter, returning her to the house about 7 p.m. He came back an hour later and shot Miss Daley while his wife was reading to their daughter in another room, police said.

The victim was shot twice in the chest and once in the arm. She was pronounced dead at the Northern Westchester Hospital Center at Mt. Kisco.

Police said they received a telephone call from Ball, who told them of the shooting, and they arrived at the home to find him still gripping a .38-cal. revolver. He was held without bail.

Miss Daley was an editorial trainee and special feature reporter for the New York Daily News before going to work at Life.

Conservative Party Head Wants Police Memorial Day

NEW YORK CITY

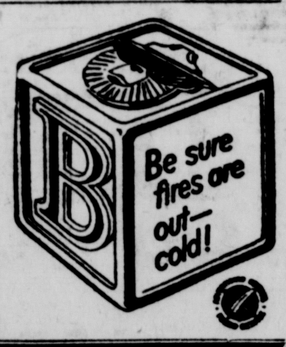

J. Daniel Mahoney, chairman of the New York State Conservative party, has called for a Police Memorial Day to be held in New York State June 1.

The Conservative Party has called for the day, Mahoney said, "to honor deceased police heroes."

Mahoney decried the increase in shootings and violence directed at law enforcement officers, pointing out that more than 100 American policemen have lost their lives in the line of duty over the past two years.

Mahoney asked all New York State citizens to honor police heroes by flying their flags at half-mast and driving their cars with headlights on during daylight hours June 1.

"We don't want or need rallies or demonstrations," Mahoney said. "What we want is to make the people think of the policemen who have died in the line of duty while fighting in a war, on our streets and in our communities, against crime and against killers who think nothing of gunning down civilians or policemen who stand in the way of their crimes."

Letters to the Editor

Paltz Problems

Editor, The Freeman:

The United Farmworkers Support Group, an organization of community people, workers, and students in basic agreement with the United Farmworkers Union, solidarizes itself with the current student struggle at New Paltz College. Three of the issues raised, in particular, merit the support of the labor movement — the rehiring of three women faculty, the rehiring of Black Associate professor Howard Johnson, and protection of the dining hall workers' rights.

Our support group considers the denial of tenure to Joanne Titus, Jane Phillips, Susan Peretz, and Howard Johnson an atttck upon the rights of labor. Contrary to the usual procedure, the aministration did not even consult the faculty and students of the affected departments when it made its decision. Thus the administrators violated due process of the majority in the campus community. (The general consensus is that they are competent teachers).

The administration claims that budget cuts necessitated these firings. However, we believe that institutionalized sexism and racism were major factors. Although women and Blacks are underrepresented on the faculty due to discrimination, they receive the major brunt of cutbacks. White males on the faculty with similar or less academic qualifications are seldom threatened with the loss of their jobs. In Mr. Johnson's case, the administration may also have been motivated by dislike of his political viewpoints.

When these edicts were known, students, faculty, women's organizations, and blacks protested with mass rallies. Under pressure, the administration agreed to review the women's cases. An agreement between the administration and the student coalition, the United Front for Educational Freedom, has not been reached yet. However, the United Farmworkers Support Group is confident that students, Black organizations, faculty, feminist groups, unionists, and other supporters of these four faculty will not give up this struggle against racist and sexist employment practices.

Already Mr. Robin Ottaviani (who was refused tenure last year) and Ms. Susan Paretz have filed a lawsuit against the administration charging sex discrimination. No longer will the women and blacks of the New Paltz community allow the university to ignore their special needs.

The United Farmworkers Support Group is also concerned about the illegal firing of several employees of Delta Corporation for their attempt to unionize. Delta Corporation is a private company with a contract to run the campus dining hall and snack bar. The food it serves is generally low-quality. The workers receive meagre wages for their work and expereince constant harassment by the managers. In addition to the bad working conditionings affecting all employees, women are usually given the lowest paid jobs and forced to wear uncomfortable uniforms. The administration and the labor board withheld support for the workers' fight.

Members of the Food Committee of the United Front for Educational Freedom assured us that they would work to improve this situation by demanding reorganization of the food service, worker representation in decisions on food, and the workers' right to unionize. If the situation is not ameliorated, we know the employees will find allies next year among labor groups, women's organizations, and political groups.

We invite people interested in discussing the above issues with us to our meetings Wednesdays, 8:30 p.m. Currently we are picketing for the boycott of Gallo, Guild, and Franzia wines and non-U.F.W. lettuce and grapes.

SPCA BOARD

Editor: The Freeman

Approximately one year ago, my husband and I joined the Ulster County S.P.C.A. We are very fond of dogs, have a sled team and have adopted a few of the unwanted dogs that have been brought to the shelter.

We have been extremely pleased with the progress and improvements that have been made at the shelter during the past year and feel that it is due to the fine Board of Directors and also to the diligent work put in by the employees and staff at the shelter.

On the night of May 11, we attended a membership meeting of the S.P.C.A. held for the purpose of electing new officers. This meeting was held at the West Hurley Fire House. Unfortunately, out of almost 600 members, there were only 82 people in attendance.

The events of this meeting were very shocking, discouraging and deceiving. In my humble opinion, the S.P.C.A. should be a non-partisan, non-political group of interested, dedicated and concerned animal lovers who work for the good of the animals. However, present at this meeting, for the first time to my knowledge, was a group of Ulster County political publicity seekers. This group was in attendance for the purpose of electing a board which they feel can benefit the S.P.C.A. by spending what monies have been put in trust for the shelter by concerned animal lovers. The S.P.C.A. is run by the use of the interest from these trust funds. If these funds were to be exhausted, the S.P.C.A. would have no money to continue functioning.

There were many unkind remarks made at this meeting and many false accusations made as well. It seems to me, that the purpose of a County Shelter is solely to benefit unfortunate and unwanted animals. Why then, did this meeting turn into a political personality hassle? The present Board has done an excellent job and it is my opinion that they deserve more time to continue their fine work.

I might add that I am very disappointed with the attitudes and ideas that some of the people were trying to initiate at this meeting. Why be "penny wise and pound foolish"? Work to improve what you have and make the best of the present situation.

Sincerely,
ANN D. GIANNONE

BOCES Clinic

Editor, The Freeman:

Re: The article published about the BOCES program. It is about time someone tried to educate the public concerning the good that BOCES offers Ulster County. However, as a recent BOCES graduate of the cosmetology program, I would like to add something to your information.

The clinic offered by the school is a sadly neglected and badly needed part of the program. No amount of theory and mannequin practice can take the place of actually learning to deal with patrons. The beautician student needs to be able to handle the problems that the public will bring to her; this cannot be put off until she enters the working world. Clinics are a basic part of all other beauty schools. In no other way can the students get the experience needed to obtain jobs. Many of last year's girls found this out.

Having been turned down last year by the administration when we wanted to try to let people know about the clinic through posters, etc., I was upset to find this information tacked on to your article as incidental. I hope more people will take advantage of this opportunity to help. The prices are nominal, the students are guided by an experienced teacher and they need you!

Sincerely,
Belinda McNally

Chlorine Danger

Editor, The Freeman:

To swimming pool owners: DO NOT leave partly used barrels or cans of chlorine in your basement or garage. Moisture or products containing sulfur or other chemicals can cause the chlorine to ignite. I know, we had it happen last summer. The quick response of Esopus Fire Depart. prevented serious damage.

One other word of warning. If your chlorine should ignite, DO NOT try to extinguish it with Water. Water will only intensify the blaze. Call your fire department immediately.

Sincerely,

Senate Dems Plan Tax Cut Despite Warning From Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats are moving ahead with plans for a $6.6 billion personal income tax cut in the face of new warnings from President Nixon that the action could fuel more inflation.

Senate leaders said the tax cut proposal would be called up soon for floor debate and predicted that it would pass their branch. Whether the House will go along is unclear.

The President's views were transmitted to the Capitol in a special report of his Council of Economic Advisers which said a recession is much less likely now.

It estimated the inflation rate would drop to about 7 per cent by the last quarter of 1974. The rate was 12.1 per cent in the first three months of this year, the highest since 1951 during the Korean War.

However, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., vice chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, told a newsman "there is no anti-inflation program at all in this report.

"In his current budget, the President recommended one of the biggest spending increases in history, yet his report talks about fiscal restraint," he said.

Proxmire cited as "positively harmful" the proposal in the report to deregulate natural gas, asserting this would mean further sharp increases in utility bills to consumers.

Nixon said in the report "we must avoid the temptation of tax reduction without expenditure reduction," but did not recommend any specific government spending cuts.

However, the leading Senate tax cut advocates contend that this is the way to restore some of the consumer buying power lost because of irreversible increases in the price of oil and products manufactured with large inputs of energy.

The proposal advanced by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., Russell B. Long, D-La., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., would give taxpapers a choice of an $825 personal exemption or a $190 tax credit. The present exemption is $750.

The council said industrial production should increase at a 4 per cent annual rate after mid-year. But the report also said unemployment may rise to between 5.5 per cent and 6 per cent by the end of the year. The rate was 5 per cent in April.

'Profoundly Disturbing'...Graham

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Billy Graham says the transcripts of President Nixon's conversations about Watergate are "profoundly disturbing."

"One cannot but deplore the moral tone implied in these papers," Graham said Tuesday, ending a three-week silence about the released texts he had imposed until he had time to examine them himself.

A long-time personal friend and spiritual advisor to President Nixon, Graham said that "what comes through in these tapes is not the man I have known many years. Other mutual friends have made the same observation."

But the evangelist said Nixon remains "my friend, and I have no intention of forsaking him now. Nor will I judge him as a man in totality on the basis of these relatively few hours of conversation under such severe pressure.

"But I would be neither his friend nor God's servant if I did not point out the righteousness of God's demands at such a time as this."

Graham telephoned his statement from his Montreat, N.C., home.

Graham said he last had spoken with Nixon about three weeks ago by telephone while conducting a crusade in Phoenix, Ariz.

He said he since has spent several days reading the White House-released text, and had "thought about it and prayed about it" before issuing his statement.

"I just wish the whole thing had never happened," he said.

"We have lost our moral compass. We must get it back."

Although "we know that other presidents have used equally objectionable language—it does not make it right. 'Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain' is a commandment which has not been suspended, regardless of any need to release tensions."

Graham did not mention the Rev. John McLaughlin, a Jesuit priest on Nixon's White House staff who has defended the President's use of profanity as an outgrowth of a need to release tensions. But he used virtually the same words, and in doing so disputed McLaughlin.

Extortion Arrest in Missing Envoy Case

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — The FBI today held Bobby Joe Keesee, who has popped up repeatedly in mysterious international incidents including the return of American POWs from North Vietnam, in connection with the unsolved disappearance of a U.S. diplomat in Mexico.

Keesee, 40, was arrested Tuesday and charged with trying to obtain $250,000 by extortion in the case of Vice Consul John S. Patterson.

Patterson vanished from the consulate in Hermosillo, Mexico, on March 22, and was reportedly last seen getting into a car with a man described as looking like another American. Patterson's wife has said she has tried to deliver a ransom for him, but was unable to make connections.

The FBI said there is no evidence that Keesee was connected with the actual disappearance of Patterson, but he is charged with "causing to be delivered" to the consulate a ransom note demanding $250,000.

Keesee, who gave his occupation as cabinet maker was arrested by FBI agents outside his home in Huntington Beach on a complaint issued in San Diego, taken before a federal magistrate in Santa Ana and held in lieu of $100,000 bail.

Keesee, then a civilian, surprised American officials by turning up among the POWs released by North Vietnam in March, 1973. The State Department said it had no idea the North Vietnamese had a civilian prisoner, although his appearance seemed to confirm a report by a charter pilot in Bangkok that a mysterious American hijacked his plane on Sept. 18, 1970, forcing the pilot at gunpoint to land him on a beach in North Vietnam.

In January, 1962, Keesee went AWOL from Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., flew a small, stolen plane to Cuba and asked for asylum. The Castro government sent him back to the United States, where he faced 153 federal charges.

He was convicted of interstate transportation of a stolen car, and the other charges were dropped. He said at his trial that he was working for the CIA and the escapade was part of a CIA plan to establish his "cover" for future operations. The CIA denied any connection. He served five years and was paroled in June, 1965.

He next turned up among 57 hostages held and released by Palestinian guerrillas in an Amman, Jordan, hotel in June, 1970.

Gas Leaks Force Persons Out of Homes

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UPI) — Thousands of residents were evacuated from their homes twice Tuesday after gasoline leaked from three filling stations into the city sewer system, threatening a possible explosion.

New Britain Mayor Stanley Pac said the gasoline came from old tanks which were drained after the leaks were discovered. The sewer lines were purged with a chemical to neutralize the gasoline and reduce the danger.

He said the 2,500 persons forced to leave their homes could return today if the safety steps proved effective. Many who had been told to leave in the afternoon and then allowed to return after the emergency was declared over were ordered out in the evening when the gas fumes rose again.

Most of the evacuees were apparently seeking shelter with friends or relatives, some taking advantage of overnight facilities set up at the state armory, officials said.

The Connecticut Light and Power Co. said at one point it cut off electricity to 4,700 customers. By Tuesday afternoon, power was returned to more than half, a spokesman said.

Authorities said the leak was discovered Monday night when Department of Public Works employe Joseph Diloreto was burned in a flash explosion as he tried to light a cigar near a manhole cover.

He was reported suffering from slight burns at New Britain General Hospital.

Fire department vehicles equipped with bullhorns were used to warn the area residents to leave their homes.

Summit Trip Essential

It is essential that President Nixon go ahead with plans for his summit trip to the Soviet Union if only to show that the American government can function even when beset by serious national events and charges against the President.

A fact that must not be overlooked is that the American presidency, concerning world affairs, is an office bigger than the man who occupies it—any man.

Impeachment sentiment in Congress and in the country as a whole has been stimulated in recent weeks by Mr. Nixon's release of transcripts of Watergate tapes. However, the impeachment issue has nothing to do with issues between the United States and any foreign government.

The Soviet Union, for instance, is not going to base its position in the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks on the domestic political situation of the U. S. President. Its position will be based on a hard assessment of the basic strengths of our country and on the current capabilities of U. S. strategic forces.

Nothing in the Watergate revelations can change the facts about American nuclear deterrent capabilities. This is what the Soviets want to talk about, and it is a major item on the Moscow summit agenda.

Mr. Nixon's failure to attend the summit could give the impression to other world governments that events in this country can reduce the priority that all presidents must give to keeping the pe[illegible].

Throughout the Watergate investigation our policy has remained on a track which has made the United States a force for peace in nearly every troubled area in the world.

We cannot allow the agony of the Watergate investigation to cause irreparable damage to U. S. diplomacy. Failure of President Nixon to make the trip abroad next month could do this, and could also weaken the position of the United States on several fronts. It could undo progress being made toward a second-round strategic arms agreement. It could raise doubts in the Middle East where Henry Kissinger is trying to work out a peace agreement with Israel and the Arab countries. It could also deprive a Western Europe of the strong American voice which could have a unifying effect within the Atlantic Alliance.

The President of the United States carries a responsibility as our nation's leader to work towards the security of the Free World. The Watergate crisis should not diminish this responsibility.

Question and Answer

Generally speaking, telephone calls from strangers do not ring a bell with people who value their privacy. We place ourselves in that category, yet confess to being intrigued by a recent episode of the kind.

It seems (the Los Angeles Times reports) that when Mrs. Neil Morgan of that city answered the telephone one morning she heard a strange woman ask if she had watched a certain television show the previous evening. We quote the rest of the Times' account verbatim:

" 'Yes, I did.'

" 'Oh, good. I was watching, too, but I fell asleep, and none of my friends saw it. I decided I'd just dial numbers until someone could tell me how it came out.'

" 'They got married,' Mrs. Morgan said.

" 'Oh, I'm so glad,' the woman said. Then she hung up."

Now, there's a conversation worth remembering. Brief, straight to the point; no needless frills of introduction or apology. A question asked, an answer given. We still don't think much of unsolicited phone calls from strangers. But sometimes, it must be admitted, they do serve a useful purpose. There's just one point left hanging: one wonders how many numbers that woman had to dial before she reached the informed and helpful Mrs. Morgan.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Klassen Rewards His Cronies

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Postmaster General Ted Klassen, like a kindly old uncle, has been padding the postal payroll with his cronies and former business associates.

It's Uncle Sam and the mail users, meanwhile, who pick up the huge payroll tab.

Our continuing investigation into Klassen's shenanigans has now uncovered a payroll boondoggle of major proportions. We found that Klassen's best friend and many of his former business associates have been allowed to feed at the public trough — compliments of the postmaster general.

"Lew Walters hocked his watch to lend me money once." Klassen often brags about his oldest friend. Now, Walters reaps the rewards of his loyalty, collecting a fat consultant fee. What he does is a mystery to practically everyone at the Postal Service, but he rakes in about $24,000 a year for doing it.

The highest paid consultant, however, was Sydney Baron, a former public realtions man at American Can, the firm Klassen headed before coming to the Postal Service. Until his contract was cancelled May 9, Baron collected an incredible $500 a day for his work. And for Baron, the Postal Service defined a day when "a reasonable amount of time is spent on Postal Service matters."

Baron, however, is not the only alumnus of American Can who has drawn a fat paycheck. Some of the American Can crowd have formed sort of a preretirement village, hanging on the postal payroll until they accure enough time to retire with a pension.

Ellsworth Pell, for example, retired from American Can and is now holding down a non-job at the rate of $35,000 a year. Postal sources claim that Pell never made more than $20,000 a year at American Can.

Harold Larsen, another American Can graduate, was slipped into a do-nothing job by Klassen, too. He was started out as New York Regional Postmaster General, but had to be removed for inefficiency. Klassen is now taking care of him at $45,000 a year, with an easier job at headquarters.

Ben Bailar and Darrell Brown are two former American Can men now in the $50,000 neighborhood at the Postal Service. Brown's postal section is used by Klassen as a dumping ground for old cronies he is reluctant to fire.

For example, Len Farrell was demoted from assistant postmaster general for labor relations, but continues to draw a higher salary than his successor. Farrell is hanging on for a pension.

Brown's division also took care of Paul Carlin, who was deposed as a senior assistant postmaster general. Carlin stayed on as an aide to Brown, but still collected about $46,000. The man who took over his duties makes about $43,000.

Meanwhile, middle-level postal hands complain that they cannot get the manpower they need because of budget considerations.

Blacks and women in the mail system protest that none of their number has made it to the top levels of management. Only five blacks, for example, have hit the $30,000 plateau at the Postal Service.

One of the highest paid women is Peggy Ford, who is Klassen's personal secretary. Sources contend that her $26,000 job is secured, because she knows "where all the bodies are buried." Her husband, a retired military man, is now on the payroll at more than $30,000.

At the same time, postmasters across the nation are being told to tighten their belts. The Postal Service is in financial trouble and cannot yet ask for another rate increase. Klassen is hoping that economies in the field and a friendly Congress will bail him out.

FOOTNOTE: A postal spokesman told my associate Jack Cloherty that Pell, Carlin and Farrell all did necessary jobs at the Postal Service. The spokesman denied that Brown's area was a "dumping ground" and generally defended Klassen's employment practices.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Although some Republican congressmen are running away from the President, the party itself still hasn't stopped politiciking for Richard Nixon. The GOP spent more than $14,000 to send sanitized summaries of the Watergate transcripts to key Nixon supporters throughout the nation . . . Despite his hectic schedule, Vice President Gerald Ford still finds time to thank his staff personally for their work. An aide recently received a handwritten birthday note from Ford . . . The Federal Energy Administration has pleaded that the United States desperately needs more refineries to overcome the Export-Import Bank, heavily supported with U.S. cash, has granted a $22.4 million loan at six per cent interest to build a refinery in the West Indies. To build the same refinery in the United States, an American firm would have to pay 11 per cent interest, plus higher labor and building costs . . .

There may be some complaints about the mail, but not from the White House. Postmaster General Ted Klassen told us that he hasn't spoken with President Nixon for well over a year . . . The FBI has been doing some public relations work on ex-foreign agent Dusko Popov who claims in a book that he warned the late J. Edgar Hoover about Pearl Harbor. FBI agents dropped by the publisher, Grosset and Dunlop, and tried to convince vice peresident Bob Markel that Popov was lying. Markel listened politely, then published the book . . . Many weeks ago, a Watergate investigator called a Washington dentist and asked for temporary treatment for a bad tooth problem which, he said, he would take care of when he went back home. The investigator recently called back and asked for a permanent fix. It looked like he would be here for awhile, he said.

Inside Report

S.O.S. Sent to Rush

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Behind President Nixon's S.O.S. to Under Secretary of State Kenneth Rush lies far more than the search for a White House economic coordinator, the role originally planned for him and for which businessman-lawyer Rush seems only marginally suited.

Rather, Mr. Nixon's decision to bring the 64-year-old Rush, his one-time law-school professor, into the beleaguered White House was dictated by worsening policy feuds within the President's official family and the continuing erosion of White House influence over the vast federal bureaucracy.

Mr. Nixon, in short, has awakened to a fact long understood by most of his top officials and the Republican leaders in Congress: that White House chief of staff Alexander Haig is now staggering under his remorseless work load and must have help.

Thus, Rush's real mission will be to moderate and soothe policy clashes between such ambitious satraps as Roy Ash, head of the powerful Office of Management and Budget, Secretary of the Treasury William Simon and domestic council chief Kenneth Cole.

Work relief for Haig has now become vital for Mr. Nixon's White House. When he first agreed to take over as chief of staff from ousted H. R. Haldeman, Haig was promised complete insulation from Watergate. That pledge barely survived the drying of the ink on his presidential commission.

As a result, Haig soon found himself immersed in tortuous backroom strategy sessions over how Mr. Nixon should handle the enveloping Watergate and impeachment disasters and also charged with top-level responsibility in dealing with day-to-day operations of the government. That meant decision-making of a profoundly difficult character: deciding, for example, whether Ash or Simon should run the government's energy policy.

One result: an atmosphere of perpetual haste and frenzy in the office of the unusually unflappable Haig which led him to actually telephone Newsweek magazine late on Sunday night, May 19, to seek revisions in a story on Haig that was already locked in type. In a more normal time, Haig would not have considered such an intrusion.

A major part of Rush's new White House job will be to take over much of Haig's role in trying to coordinate domestic policy and keep the federal government from flying apart under the pressures of impeachment politics.

Rush is not exactly rushing in to help his one-time law student. Just before Christmas last year, a White House press release had actually been drafted announcing that Rush was leaving the State Department for the top White House Watergate strategy role. In preparation for that unenviable job, Rush immersed himself in the most crucial Watergate tapes and concluded that Mr. Nixon was innocent of the Watergate cover-up charges.

But that switch to the White House was cancelled at literally the last minute by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who insisted that Rush stay at State for at least a few more months.

Now, the crisis over the White House staff leaves no option, as both the President and Rush perceive it, Mr. Nixon's two top domestic aides in the post-Watergate White House, Melvin Laird and Bryce Harlow, have both quit. Dean Burch, signed on as the newest top-level White House hand last February, is in an ambiguous role — ostensibly working with the regulatory agencies but in fact being used more as a political point man with Republican congressmen and party officials.

In short, ever since the departure of Laird and Harlow, their workloads have been heaped on the sagging shoulders of the sleepless Haig, with Ash and Cole, both armed with ambitious staffs of their own, competing against each other and the cabinet departments for a larger slice of power.

For Rush, the new role as White House moderator is not an enviable one. As one experienced White House savant told us: "Ken may be a soft touch for the kind of brutalities going on in this town today." But there are two things that set him apart from some others who have tried to help Richard Nixon in his extremity: a conviction of the President's innocence and an almost familial intimacy which will guarantee him access to one of the loneliest of men.

Button Your Lip and Listen

I had a dream . . .

Hello? Reeb? Know who this is? Good. No names, Reeb. No names whatsoever. What? Of course I know your name isn't Reeb. I'm using it so that if the operator is tapping this (expletive) phone, she won't know who is speaking to who. Or is it whom?

No matter, Reeb, I'm in a public phone booth in the cellar. What? Because it's the only one not bugged, you dummy. Listen, I need a little you-know-what. Hah? Oh yes you do. You know damned well what I mean. What's that little stuff we've been salting away all these years? Don't say it, Reeb. Spell it.

Right. Right. Reeb, you're talking too much I don't care what the (expletive) Cubans say. It's my (expletive) they're after. No way. No hush money, no lawyer's fees, no feeding the families — tell them the whole thing blew up. Huh? Sure they were patriotic. They're headed for a patriotic jail.

Pass the word. Tell everybody to button up. Honest to God, Reeb, I have never heard so many canaries in my life. Up here it's one big (expletive) concert. Between Jaworski, Ervin and Rodino, People on my team — my team, Reeb — are talking who never said good morning to me.

You're right, of course. It's just another Garden of Gethsemane. You're Catholic, aren't you? Of course you are. Then you understand about me and Gethsemane. I said to Alex — huh? — the general, of course. I said to Alex: 'Let this cup pass from me,' and he broke up laughing.

Don't worry abut The Lid. Oh for (unintelligible) sake, you know who it is. Think. Lid. Lid. Exactly. If they were all like him, we'd have no problem. We could run Barry again in '76 and shoo the old (expletive) in.

But the thing blew up and we're all in it together. What's that, Reeb? Oh yes you are. A third-echelon lawyer on Doar's staff calls every day and gives me the juice. You're definitely in. Fa-a-ar in, Reeb. Two counts of conspiracy and the little tin box.

To be perfectly clear, I'm the only one not in the bag. Aw, come on, Reeb. You know I knew nothing about nothing right from the start. If Bob and John wanted to go around bugging the (expletive) off the Democrats, they did it on their own. Fate is strange. They're bugging Larry and I'm bugging them.

Unfortunately, I forgot that I was also bugging myself. I must admit that's a shade this side of genius. Then ol' Buttertongue has to open his yap and say, 'Oh yes, the Prez had a automatic recording device.' You know something funny, Reeb? I can't remember telling him about it.

Didn't understand you, Reeb. What? Of course not. That's exactly what the country wants me to do. Have you ever known me to quit under fire? You bet your (expletive). And I've been under fire as far back as I can remember. And when I say, fire, boy, I mean flames and mortar shells.

Excuse me? Oh, him. Hiding somewhere in Carolina, I suppose. He was as pious as all hell when the going was good. Anyway, I got a priest now. They major in logic, you know. Yeah. All I do is unsnap the leash and he goes out on the lawn and hands down the gospel of the day.

As long as they print it. Wouldn't you hate to be on the other side of the battle right now? Reeb, what kind of an answer is that? Hello? Hello? Okay, operator, I'll drop it in quarters. Do me a favor. Don't cut in on a private conversation unless you want to get into deep trouble. What's your name and rank?

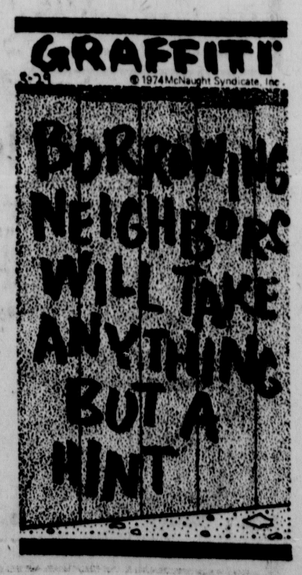

Hello? Reeb? She cut out. Watch what you say, she may be l-i-s-t-e-n-i-n-g. Be loyal. Stick with me. That's all I ever asked of John and John and John—. Huh? You know which ones. The sneer, the pipe, the mouth. Yeah.

All I have to say is thank God for Henry. The accomplishments are electrifying. You're right. I don't like that word either. To be honest, I don't like him taking the bows for China, Russia and the Arabs, I, and I alone, sent him on those missions. I wonder why Israel doesn't trust a guy with his ancestry?

Oh, I can tell you what they want — everything. But that isn't why I called you, Reeb. I told you what your reward would be. If we ever recognize Castro, you're our ambassador. What do you mean, you don't want it? I thought you'd love it. There's a lot of sugar lying around.

Well, think it over. Now Reeb. I'm going to say this once and say it slowly. You know where my office is situated in the far west? Hah? Did you have to mention the town, dammit!

Okay. The office. Down in front of it, toward the beach, is a crooked palm tree. Yeah. Crooked. Don't be funny, Reeb. Take a kid's shovel and go there and dig on the beach side. Beach! About two feet down, you will find seven coffee cans. That's my boy! Bring one. Don't open it. Don't look in. And bury the others. Gotta get off. I'm running out of quarters . . .

President's Position on Evidence

Stonewall Separates Nixon, Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's hardened attitude toward the House impeachment inquiry appears to have created the first serious public differences between the President and Vice President Gerald R. Ford.

Ford is making it clear that he disapproves of what he calls Nixon's "stonewall attitude", and that he fears it may be the catalyst that brings about the President's impeachment.

At the same time he indicates his oft-stated pleas for compromise and moderation are falling on deaf ears, and that he sees no sign the President plans to reverse his course.

For weeks now, Ford has been issuing periodic public warnings that Nixon's plight would be deepened by a refusal to cooperate as fully as possible with the House Judiciary Committee.

A veteran of 25 years in the House, Ford knows the sensitivities of congressmen and realizes that a refusal to cooperate will raise the institutional backs of even House members eager to support the President.

This is, in fact, what is increasingly happening within the Judiciary Committee, as shown by its lopsided votes in favor of subpoenaing evidence Nixon refuses to give.

On Wednesday, Nixon set off a new showdown by informing the panel he would give it no further Watergate material.

That night in Wilmington, Del., Ford took some questions from his audience at a Republican rally. A man asked if he would use his good offices to bring about compliance with subpoenas and other demands for evidence so that the Republicans could put Watergate behinda them.

Ford gave his usual response about the large amount of material Nixon had already provided, then added that, after it is digested, "if they want any more that's relevant to the issues, to the impeachable offenses in the Constitution, I hope the President will give it to them, the sooner the better."

Ford expressed confidence in Nixon's innocence but added, "Let's get it all out there and the quicker the better."

Late Thursday morning, Nixon summoned Ford to one of their periodic chats. When he arrived at Andrews Air Force Base that afternoon to fly to New York for a speech, the vice president was barraged with questions about the session but brushed aside questions about whether the Watergate situation was even discussed.

He later passed the word that he was annoyed at the way he had been hit by questions without warning. Upon arrival in New York, he looked unusually somber and aides said he was a little uptight because the meeting with Nixon had thrown his schedule off.

Later Thursday night, however, Ford gave more of a clue as to what might have been bothering him. In an interview with ABC's Bill Zimmerman, he indicated the White House had again rejected his advice and said, "It seems to me that a stonewall attitude isn't necessarily the wisest policy."

When he was asked if he had any reason to believe that there might still be a compromise, he replied, "at this point, I don't think I'm in a position to give you any authoritative answer. I can only say that in my judgment, that would be a better procedure."

In another interview Friday with the Washington Star-News, Ford said President Nixon "didn't give me any reason to believe that he would" change his position on supplying additional material to the committee.

Since he was named for the vice presidency Oct. 12, Ford has shown steadfast loyalty to Nixon, mixed with some criticism of White House tactics and a clear indication there were quite a few things he would have done differently.

Now, with the background of his knowledge of the House of Representatives, he is trying to tell the White House what will happen if Nixon perssists in his course, knowing that failure to get the message across could put him into the presidency.

Owners Hit Police In Death of Cougar

SAUGERTIES — Arnette Barnett, owner of the Tri-State Zoo in Saugerties, has charged state police with "negligence" in last week's shooting death of a 70-pound cougar that had escaped earlier from the zoo.

The pregnant, 3½ year old cougar, named Bonnie, escaped at 1 p.m. Thursday as it was being moved into a crate for transport to another area. The animal was shot and killed about six hours later, in a wooded area near Route 32 in the Town of Suagerties.

After the incident, state police maintained that the cougar was a menace to public safety, and that it appeared to be ready to spring or lunge when confronted by police.

But Mrs. Barnett, who raised the cougar since it was a five-week-old cub, said today that police could just have easily trapped or tranquilized the animal.

"At no time during the course of events," said Mrs. Barnett, "did Bonnie give any indication, or cause any actior that could be construed as an indication, that she would attempt to change her position and become a threat to, or directly endanger anyone in the area."

Mrs. Barnett pointed out that three New York State Wildlife Inspectors participated in the search, and were armed with tranquilizer guns. But before the wildlife inspectors could maneuver for position, said Mrs. Barnett, state police "viciously gunned down" her animal.

"Three shots were fired," said Mrs. Barnett. "I believe that only one hit Bonnie. She had been in the same general vicinity and position for several hours. There is no doubt in my mind that two additional minutes could have been given her. There is no doubt in my mind that wildlife inspectors are far more familiar with animals, and at least equally adept at attaining a vantage point from which to shoot. The only difference is the ammunition."

In a more emotional appeal for her case, Mrs. Barnett commented, "The saddest part of all is the work, the effort and the heartbreak that went into making her the healthy specimen that she was when she got shot."

Mrs. Barnett said that when she and her husband first obtained the cougar, the five-week-old cub weighed only three pounds. "She should have died then," said Mrs. Barnett, "Love and excellent veterinary care pulled her through. Didn't she deserve a chance?"

Mrs. Barnett refuted police claims that Bonnie was a menace to public safety. "Wild animals — and that includes domesticated wild animals as well — don't arbitrarily attack people. They are, in fact, more scared of the people than the people are of them."

"In our so-called civilized society," added Mrs. Barnett, "constructed, maintained and enforced by supposed helpful and compassionate civil servants, where does justice, fairness and compassion for animals lie? If there is none for animals, I wonder what there really is for people?"

City to Open Bids On New Parking Meters

KINGSTON — City Clerk Louis F. DeCicco will open bids on 700 new parking meters on June 7 at 11 a.m. in the city clerk's office at city hall, 1 Meadow Street.

Bid specifications are available from the city clerk's office.

The new meters, which the city expects to purchase in July and install by September, will replace parking meters that for the most part date back at least 20 years. Also, the new meters will take nickles and dimes whereas the present meters take pennies and nickles, representing one of the last bastions of the "penny parking" in New York State.

The Traffic Control Committee and the Finance, Ways and Means Committee of the Common Council, chaired by Aldermen Peter J. Mancuso (D-12th Ward) and John E. Finch (D-Fifth Ward), respectively, drew up the specifications for the meters after meeting with manufacturer's representatives.

Garrow Jury Selection Is Continuing

LAKE PLEASANT, N.Y. (UPI) — Final selection of the 12 jurors and four alternates for the murder trial of Robert F. Garrow of Syracuse was scheduled to begin today in Hamilton County Court after extensive preliminary screening.

Garrow is charged with the stabbing death of a teen-age camper last summer in the nearby Adirondack community of Speculator.

The case has received a great deal of publicity because of the widespread coverage given a 12-day manhunt for Garrow last summer.

More than 1,300 veniremen were called by Judge George W. Marthen, but only 119 indicated they would be willing to serve on the jury. Many of those asking to be excused from possible jury duty said they could not afford to be away from their tourism-related jobs in the coming weeks. The court has estimated the jury might be sequested for as long as one-month.

Because of the limited seating capacity of the courtroom, only 64, of the 109 potential jurors could be seated at one time.

Garrow, 38, is charged with killing Philip Domblewski,18, of Schenectady July 29. The youth was killed while camping with three companions.

Garrow was the subject of a manhunt by nearly 200 law enforecement officials. He was finally shot and captured almost two weeks later in the Essex County community of Witherbee.

Hearst Case . . . No Leads

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A three-page statement purportedly from the Symbionese Liberation Army was delivered to a television station Tuesday night, the FBI said today.

The hand-written statement contained three pages of what the FBI called political rhetoric condemning the murder and genocide of oppressed people and was signed "a friend and supporter of the SLA revolution."

Three men, apparently only involved as intermediaries, brought the statement to KABC-TV, the FBI said. Agents said they were not greatly interested in the statement because it appeared to contain no new leads in the hunt for the SLA members still at large — Patricia Hearst, and William and Emily Harris.

Although there have been no good new leads in this area, an FBI spokesman said Tuesday, the search is still centered on the Los Angeles region.

The Harrises are charged with 19 state and federal offenses, and Miss Hearst with 20, including kidnaping, robbery, assault and weapons laws violations.

The FBI said a fourth suspected SLA member, Thero Wheeler is also being sought. Wheeler escaped from the state prison facility at Vacaville about the same time that Donald DeFreeze did.

DeFreeze, who styled himself SLA "General Field Marshal Cinque," killed himself after five of his followers died in a gunbattle with police and FBI and the fire that consumed their hideout.

Hundreds of FBI agents, supported by local police, are conducting an intensive search for Miss Hearst, who allegedly has become a gun-toting terrorist of the SLA, which kidnaped her in Berkeley Feb. 3.

Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of my dear daddy, Donald J. Hull, who passed away nine years ago May 28, 1965.

Have you ever lost a loved one
Who was very dear to you,
One you loved so very much
And miss him like I do?
If you've never had this heartache
I pray you never do,
For when Jesus takes a loved one,
He takes a part of you.
Dear God, please take this message
To my "Daddy" up above,
Tell him how much I miss him
And give him all my love.

Love always,
Daughter,
DARLENE

JFK's Brother Remembers His Birthday

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — John F. Kennedy's only surviving brother placed a single yellow rose on the grave of the assassinated President today on his 57th birthday anniversary.

Only a handful of spectators stood in rain in Arlington National Cemetery as Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., placed the rose on the grave and another on the nearby grave of his other assassinated brother, Robert F. Kennedy.

Kennedy, who at 43 was the youngest man ever elected President, was shot to death in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

Card of Thanks

Honors at SU

SYRACUSE — Former Kingstonian Raymond T. Schuler will be one of three persons honored in ceremonies June 1 at Syracuse University.

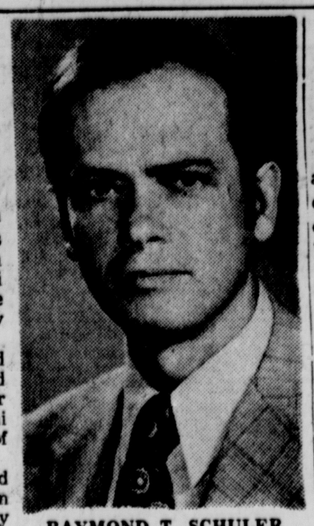

Schuler, New York State Transportation Commissioner, along with artist Phyllis Demong and writer Demetria Taylor, will receive Syracuse University's highest award to alumni — the George Arents Pioneer Medal — during the annual Kum Bak Diner. More than 800 alumni, spouses, and guests are expected to attend the dinner, a highlight of Syracuse University's Alumni Reunion Weekend May 30-June 2.

The awards were established in 1939 by the late George Arents, a former vice chairman of the University's Board of Trustees, to honor excellence in the individual's field of endeavor and outstanding achievement in that field.

Schuler, a 1952 liberal arts graduate of SU, majored in public administration. He was senior class president and a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. For two years he was a member of the University Governing Board of Athletics.

After graduation he enlisted in the Marine Corps and served in Korea. He is a former member of the SU Alumni Association's National Board of Directors.

Schuler was appointed Commissioner of Transportation Sept. 6, 1972, after previously serving as Executive Deputy Commissioner. His appointment as Commissioner at age 42 made him one of the youngest-ever members of the state cabinet.

RAYMOND T. SCHULER

Schuler is married to the former Patricia Ann Martin of Kingston. They have two daughters and live in Niskayuna, a suburb of Albany.

Garrow Jury Selection Is Continuing

LAKE PLEASANT, N.Y. (UPI) — Final selection of the 12 jurors and four alternates for the murder trial of Robert F. Garrow of Syracuse was scheduled to begin today in Hamilton County Court after extensive preliminary screening.

Garrow is charged with the stabbing death of a teen-age camper last summer in the nearby Adirondack community of Speculator.

The case has received a great deal of publicity because of the widespread coverage given a 12-day manhunt for Garrow last summer.

More than 1,300 veniremen were called by Judge George W. Marthen, but only 119 indicated they would be willing to serve on the jury. Many of those asking to be excused from possible jury duty said they could not afford to be away from their tourism-related jobs in the coming weeks. The court has estimated the jury might be sequested for as long as one-month.

Because of the limited seating capacity of the courtroom, only 64, of the 109 potential jurors could be seated at one time.

Garrow, 38, is charged with killing Philip Domblewski,18, of Schenectady July 29. The youth was killed while camping with three companions.

Garrow was the subject of a manhunt by nearly 200 law enforecement officials. He was finally shot and captured almost two weeks later in the Essex County community of Witherbee.

Hearst Case . . . No Leads

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A three-page statement purportedly from the Symbionese Liberation Army was delivered to a television station Tuesday night, the FBI said today.

The hand-written statement contained three pages of what the FBI called political rhetoric condemning the murder and genocide of oppressed people and was signed "a friend and supporter of the SLA revolution."

Three men, apparently only involved as intermediaries, brought the statement to KABC-TV, the FBI said. Agents said they were not greatly interested in the statement because it appeared to contain no new leads in the hunt for the SLA members still at large — Patricia Hearst, and William and Emily Harris.

Although there have been no good new leads in this area, an FBI spokesman said Tuesday, the search is still centered on the Los Angeles region.

The Harrises are charged with 19 state and federal offenses, and Miss Hearst with 20, including kidnaping, robbery, assault and weapons laws violations.

The FBI said a fourth suspected SLA member, Thero Wheeler is also being sought. Wheeler escaped from the state prison facility at Vacaville about the same time that Donald DeFreeze did.

DeFreeze, who styled himself SLA "General Field Marshal Cinque," killed himself after five of his followers died in a gunbattle with police and FBI and the fire that consumed their hideout.

Hundreds of FBI agents, supported by local police, are conducting an intensive search for Miss Hearst, who allegedly has become a gun-toting terrorist of the SLA, which kidnaped her in Berkeley Feb. 3.

Tag Day Set

The annual tag day for the benefit of the Marbletown First Aid Unit Inc. will be held june 1 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Volunteers will be stationed at various corner locations throughout the Town of Marbletown. Donations will enable the squad to continue its operations. More than 185 calls were made during the past year.

Card of Thanks

Deeming it impossible to thank all in person, I wish to take this means to thank Kay Staccio and her employes, Ulster Tool & Dye, the pall bearers and my many relatives, friends and neigabors for their beautiful floral offerings, spiritual bouquets, many cards and kind words of sympathy during the recent bereavement in the loss of my dear son, Thomas Conroy.

Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of my dear daddy, Donald J. Hull, who passed away nine years ago May 28, 1965.

Have you ever lost a loved one
Who was very dear to you,
One you loved so very much
And miss him like I do?
If you've never had this heartache
I pray you never do,
For when Jesus takes a loved one,
He takes a part of you.
Dear God, please take this message
To my "Daddy" up above,
Tell him how much I miss him
And give him all my love.

Love always,
Daughter,
DARLENE

JFK's Brother Remembers His Birthday

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — John F. Kennedy's only surviving brother placed a single yellow rose on the grave of the assassinated President today on his 57th birthday anniversary.

Only a handful of spectators stood in rain in Arlington National Cemetery as Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., placed the rose on the grave and another on the nearby grave of his other assassinated brother, Robert F. Kennedy.

Kennedy, who at 43 was the youngest man ever elected President, was shot to death in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank my relatives, friends and neighbors for their thoughtfulness and kindness during my recent bereavement. I also want to thank the New Paltz Rescue Squad for their kind assistance.

Honors at SU

SYRACUSE — Former Kingstonian Raymond T. Schuler will be one of three persons honored in ceremonies June 1 at Syracuse University.

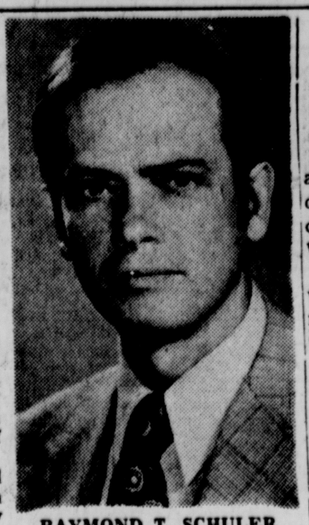

Schuler, New York State Transportation Commissioner, along with artist Phyllis Demong and writer Demetria Taylor, will receive Syracuse University's highest award to alumni — the George Arents Pioneer Medal — during the annual Kum Bak Diner. More than 800 alumni, spouses, and guests are expected to attend the dinner, a highlight of Syracuse University's Alumni Reunion Weekend May 30-June 2.

The awards were established in 1939 by the late George Arents, a former vice chairman of the University's Board of Trustees, to honor excellence in the individual's field of endeavor and outstanding achievement in that field.

Schuler, a 1952 liberal arts graduate of SU, majored in public administration. He was senior class president and a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. For two years he was a member of the University Governing Board of Athletics.

After graduation he enlisted in the Marine Corps and served in Korea. He is a former member of the SU Alumni Association's National Board of Directors.

Schuler was appointed Commissioner of Transportation Sept. 6, 1972, after previously serving as Executive Deputy Commissioner. His appointment as Commissioner at age 42 made him one of the youngest-ever members of the state cabinet.

RAYMOND T. SCHULER

Schuler is married to the former Patricia Ann Martin of Kingston. They have two daughters and live in Niskayuna, a suburb of Albany.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, becalmed by investor uncertainties over the future course of interest rates, sat virtually still today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was little changed from Tuesday's close, and losers took a very slight lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said many investors found little motivation either to sell or to buy stocks until they could get a clearer indication of whether interest rates were ready to turn downward after their sharp climb in recent months.

In today's economic news, the govenment reported its index of leading economic indicators declined 0.7 per cent in April—the first drop it has registered since last December.

Supper Planned

The fund raising committee of the Samsonville Methodist Church, chaired by Peg Leg Bates, will hold a spaghetti supper Friday, May 31, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the church hall in Samsonville. Tickets for the event are currently being sold throughout the area. Money raised will be used to purchase a carpet for the church.

Anti-Pollution Device Report Worries Environmentalists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government report showing cars get more miles per gallon if anti-pollution devices are removed has some environmentalists upset and other government officials wondering if one hand knows what the other is doing.

The report, announced May 15 by the Interior Department's Bureau of Mines, said gasoline mileage went up from 4 to 14 per cent after control devices were removed from seven '73 model cars tested at the bureau's Energy Research Center in Bartlesville, Okla.

The report did not advocate removal of such devices, and in fact reported that pollutants from exhaust rose dramatically when the controls were lifted. But the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which has the basic federal responsibility for making sure cars live up to clean air rules, did not care for the adverse publicity.

An official of the Sierra Club also wondered why the study was made, adding "we were appalled" by the report.

Actually EPA itself had issued a similar study earlier this year, after some internal debate over how the public would interpret the results.

But the EPA report — made to combat industry claims that fuel economy might be 25 per cent higher — said speed shops and other less skilled mechanics got lower results, some of them even on the loss side, when they removed the devices.

The Interior Department said the Bartlesville study was ordered up by the Office of Management and Budget, which was then reevaluating EPA's whole role in testing cars for fuel economy. An OMB official denied that the office ordered the specific study. He said it did ask for information from "several field agencies" only to "shed some light" on the fuel economy question.

Interior officials said release of the report was prompted by a Ford dealer in Bartlesville who asked for the information for a speech. The agency said it decided at that point it had to make the whole report public.

GM to Correct Vega Engine Damage

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors says it is responsible for engine damage caused by overheating in up to 1.3 million Chevrolet Vegas and will make needed repairs free of charge.

Every Vega the company has made is involved in GM's offer.

At the same time, the auto giant disputed on Tuesday a report by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration that 441,000 GM cars might have a defect that could cause accelerators to jam. GM said it did not consider the problem, involving 1965-1968 Buicks and 1970 Cadillacs, "safety related."

The auto maker said it would offer the Vega repairs to owners who have driven their cars less than 50,000 miles and have not abused the vehicles. Normally the subcompact's aluminum engine carries a 12-month, 12,000-mile warranty.

The Vega was introduced in 1970.

GM said the Vega engine is more susceptible to damage caused by overheating than conventional cast-iron engines because aluminum does not stand up to extreme heat as well.

Overheating could warp the engine block and cylinders, requiring hundreds of dollars in repairs, a Chevrolet spokesman said. He declined to estimate how much the firm expected to spend on the repairs.

The safety administration said a potential defect in two brackets in engine mounts of 1965-1968 Buick Electra 225s and Wildcats and 1970 Cadillacs with cruise control, except El Dorados, could cause the accelerators to jam.

Con Ed to Pay Regular Dividends

NEW YORK (AP) — The board of trustees of Consolidated Edison Co., which voted April 23 to omit the second-quarter dividend on common stock, now plans to pay regular dividends on preferred stock in the same quarter.

After the new trustee vote Tuesday a spokesman for the utility said Con Ed's first quarter earnings were "more than adequate" to pay approximately $11 million in quarterly dividends on 10 issues of preferred stock at $1.25 to $2.075 a share.

The fixed dividends carried by preferred stock must be paid before the dividends on any common stock.

The spokesman estimated that, at 45 cents a share on common stock, the company pays out $30 million each quarter.

He said there will be no decision on the common dividend payout for the third quarter until the trustees meet in July.

The spokesman said the continued payment of preferred dividends was "essential to resume financing of the company's required new construction through issuance of additional securities." Mounting financial problems a couple of months ago prompted Con Ed to curtail the construction program.

Before the utility can resume payment of common stock dividends full payment must be made of the preferred stock dividends, which are payable Aug. 1 to stockholders of record July 10, the spokesman said.

Fight Over Bank Money Results in Arrest of Two

NEW YORK (AP) — Brenda Seward, 21, her head bleeding, walked into a Bronx police station and complained that the man she lived with had beaten her with a pipe. Two hours later, after a trip back to her apartment with police, Miss Seward and the man she lived with were under arrest for robbing a Delaware bank.

Miss Seward's mistake, police said Tuesday, was being accompanied by detectives for a further interview with the man she complained beat her. The two detectives were familiar with photographs of the bank robbers.

At Miss Seward's apartment, Detectives James Byrne and Glen Johnson spotted Phillip Robinson as the face on a wanted poster for the $12,000 armed robbery of the Wilmington, Del., Trust on May 8.

Miss Seward's head injury had come during an argument over money, police said, and Robinson admitted the money came from the bank robbery. Further, Robinson, said, Miss Seward was the person who "cased" the bank for the robbery.

Robinson and Miss Seward were turned over to federal authorities, who held them for arraignment on bank robbery charges. The FBI said it had a warrant outstanding for Robinson.

Annie The Elephant... Home, Sports Feature

RED HOOK — Annie the Elephant — "three thousand pounds of love," according to the Lions Club of Red Hook—will be the featured attraction during the Red Hook Home and Sports Show, which begins Thursday.

Sponsored by the Lions Club, the Home and Sports Show will run through Sunday at the Dutchess County Fairgrounds in Rhinebeck.

Annie, a seven-year-old Thailand-born Indian elephant imported to this country shortly after her birth, will furnish rides for children as part of the show's Mini Circus Camel rides will also be offered.

More than 60 exhibits will be featured during the four-day show. Entertainment will be provided each night. Money raised will be used to sponsor the Lion's Club many civic and community projects.

IBM to Build Center

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — The International Business Machines Corp. (IBM) will build a management training center at its corporate headquarters in Armonk, N.Y. instead of in a residential neighborhood here, First Selectman Louis Fossi said today.

Fossi said he learned of the decision Tuesday when he contacted IBM officials to try to change their minds about not building in Ridgefield. The company owns 300 acres of residentially-zoned land, but withdrew a zone change request after heated local opposition to a proposed heliport.

A group of 700 residents knwn as Save our Serenity (SOS) said the heliport would serve the convenience of IBM's guest lecturers and executives.

"We feel the people of the town of Ridgefield did not need to pay any price for the convenience of IBM," said Douglas Sherman, an SOS leader.

EXHIBT AT BANK — Sunday, June 2, at 2 p. m. Helmy E. Butts will be welcoming friends and vistors to her exhibt and reception at Inter-County Savings Bank, 29 Main Street, New Paltz. The open-house will continue until 4 p. m. with the exhibit on display for the public through June 28. Most of the paintings in this exhibition are recent. A small number, however, such as the Trap Rock series, were done in the early sixties. Helmy E. Butts was born in Sweden, and came to Rockport, Mass., at the age of 12. She graduated from Rockport High School and received her BS degree from the Massachusetts College of Art. She earned her MS degree at New York State University College at New Paltz, and studied at Teachers College, Columbia University, where she was awarded a Professional Diploma.

Realtors to Recognize Youth

KINGSTON — The Ulster County Board of Realtors, as part of its Make America Better Program, has embarked upon a program of Youth Recognition for Community Service.

This program will recognize and honor those graduating seniors whose community service has been outstanding.

One student will be recognized from each of the following high schools in Ulster County: Ellenville, Highland, Kingston, Marlboro, New Paltz, Onteora, Rondout Valley, Saugerties, Wallkill, Coleman and Ulster Academy.

Awards will be a $25 Savings Bond for each winning student and will be awarded during the graduation ceremonies. All schools have been asked to select a student for this honor by whatever means seem appropriate to that school. Criteria for selection includes outstanding service to the school or community to help Make America Better. This service can be aid to the handicapped, the ill or aged, work as hospital aids, church or scout work, unusual or heroic deeds or any combination.

The Ulster County Board of Realtors members feel that there are many young people who deserve to be recognized for their community service, and they are hoping that all the high schools in Ulster County will participate in this program, helping to honor some of the community's outstanding youth. The names selected by each school must be submitted to the Ulster County Board of Realtors no later than June 15, so that the bond in the winner's name will be available on the day of graduation.

JOINS SACCOMAN'S JEWELERS — Anthony G. Saccoman (L) owner of Saccoman's Jewelers Inc., 576 Broadway, welcomes Herman Schneider to the firm. Schneider, who has been in the jewelry business for more than 16 years, will be the general manager of the local gem store, with Saccoman going into semi-retirement. Schneider formerly was jewelry department manager with the Hi-Lo Department store and most recently was manager of the jewelry section at Caldor's for more than eight years. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Optometrists at Seminar

NEWBPRGH — Kingston optometrists Joseph Cohen, Alan Segal and Sigmund Rudisch recently attended a contact lense seminar at Mount Saint Mary College in Newburgh.

The seminar, What's New in Contact Lenses, was sponsored by the Hudson Valley Optometric Society and was designed to present new material on hard and soft contact lenses.

Dr. Joseph Birnbaum, president of the Hudson Valley organization, welcomed the specialists and assistants to the seminars.

Rafalowsky's 60th Year

KINGSTON H. G. Rafalowsky, Inc., of 71 Albany Avenue, long a byword for the latest in smart fashions for men, celebrated its 60th anniversary recently with a coffee and cake hour and the awarding of 10 free prizes.

Present at the anniversary celebration fete were Herman G. Rafalowsky, the owner and his wife, Minna, who also has been active in the business along with their sons, Sidney and Norman Rafalowsky.

Herman Rafalowsky opened his original tailoring establishment in 1914, on Kingston's main artery, Broadway. The popularity of the store soon convinced him that he would have a good market for men's apparel, with emphasis on expert fitting.

The firm soon took on its first name brand. The need for increased space prompted three more moves: First, to another Broadway location, just steps away from the citys' railroad station. At that point in time, it was a hub of activity, dubbed "Gateway to the Catskills."

Next move was to even larger quarters on Broadway, but closer to the rapidly expanding "uptown" residential and business area. This loation bowed to the city's plans for an underpass in the center of town; thus, the move to the present location at 71 Albany Avenue. The present building, originally intended to house three stores, is now used exclusively for Rafalowsky's.

Mrs. (Minna) Rafalowsky has always been active in the business. In 1945, Sidney Rafalowsky joined the firm, following service in the armed forces, followed shortly, thereafter by brother, Norman.

Throughout the years, Rafalowsky's has combined the following ingredients to communicate customer confidence: warm, personal attention; expert fit, with their own tailors on the premieses; high-fashion apparel, with the accent on brand-names, and constant community service. "Our slogan, "60 years young," reflects our efforts to combine the maturity of good-taste with fresh, young ideas," the Rafalowsky family comments.

the MOST EFFICIENT & QUIETEST air cooled Central Air Conditioner Today!

We're telling it like it is. Comparing Carrier's most efficient and quietest central air conditioner with the most efficient and quietest central air conditioners of competitive manufacturers.

The figures speak for themselves. Carrier's Super E Round One outperforms competition. By a big margin, too. Not just in one model either. But right across the board. Every Super E is super efficient!

The Figures Prove It:

Central Air Conditioning

Btuh-per-Watt Efficiency Comparison Chart

BTUH SIZE RANGE	CARRIER	G.E.	SEARS
23,000-27,000 Btuh	10.5	8.1	8.5
28,000-33,000 Btuh	10.0	8.6	8.5
34,000-39,000 Btuh	10.3	9.0	8.6

The higher the Btuh per Watt ratio—the more cooling you get per dollar of electricity used.

Sound Level Comparison Chart SRN = sound rating number

BTUH SIZE RANGE	CARRIER	G.E.	SEARS
23,000-27,000 Btuh	16	18	18
28,000-33,000 Btuh	16	18	19
34,000-39,000 Btuh	16	17	19

The lower the sound rating number—the quieter the operation of the unit.
The Super E rated at SRN 16 produces one-half the sound power of a unit rated at SRN 17 and one-fourth the sound power of a unit rated at SRN 18.
NOTE: Comparisons based on the Directory of Certified Unitary Air Conditioners, classification RCU-A-C, published by the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute January 1, 1974-June 30, 1974.

Here's one more thing you should figure on. The Super E will be in great demand. So call us today. Let us show you firsthand why the Super E is number 1 in efficiency and quiet operation.

Kimpel Is Critical Of Sen. Schermerhorn

MIDDLETOWN — State Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn "has been sleeping" on the Stewart airport issue, charged Helmut Kimpel, who is running for state senator in the 40th district.

Funds for the runway expansion from 8,000 to 12,000 feet were quietly erased from Gov. Malcolm Wilson's supplemental budget, which was approved by the Legislature last Tuesday. The cut is also expected to cause a year's delay in the proposed rail link from Stewart to New York.

"Sen. Schermerhorn was caught completely unaware. If he were astute, knowing the mind of the governor as he claims he does, he might have tried to prevent the cuts. He's a sleeper. He doesn't do his homework," charged Kimpel, a 52-year-old industrial relations specialist.

The runway expansion would have brought $15 million in jobs to the financially distressed eastern Orange County.

"Two years ago, Schermerhorn opposed Stewart airport. Now he favors runway expansion, but he lets it slip through his fingers," Kimpel said. "He also opposed utility rate hikes, but this had no impact on the public Service Commission and its cozy relationship with the utilities. He proposed a massive reconstruction of the City of Newburgh last year. Unfortunately, he failed to gain the support of the community affected, local area legislators, and the governor. We can no longer afford this slipshod approach to government."

Republicans can keep control of the State Senate seat in the 40th district if they are honest with themselves and discard an incumbent who represents special interest groups and the interests of another party, according to Kimpel.

In a statement issued before the Republican endorsement convention at the Meadowbrook Lodge in Vails Gate June 4, Kimpel urged Republican committeemembers to "engineer a new look for the Republican Party."

"As a people-oriented candidate, I will help the Republican Party in the 40th district to get back to the bread and butter issues such as tax reform, more jobs, more industryy more productive governmen , and accountability with the utilities," Kimpel said.

"The Republican Party can't waste time with demagoguery, emotionalism and misrepresentation of the needs of the people," said Kimpel, "The party has in the past been able to produce excellent office holders. My opponent is an exception, and for that reason his reelection would not only be a blow to the party but to all people concerned with good government in the 40th district."

Kimpel, a Warwick resident and industrial relations advisor, faces State Sen. Richard Schermerhorn for the Republican endorsement in the 40th district. The district includes all of Orange County, and portions of Ulster and Rockland Counties.

GOP HEARS SCHECTER — Benjamin Schecter, aide to State Senator Edwyn E. Mason (R-48th Dist.) spoke on "A Day in the Life of a Senator" at a recent meeting of the Town of Ulster Republican Club held at the Bonanza Branch of Heritage Savings Bank. (L) Fred Wadnola, president; Schecter, Legislator Richard D. Nace (R-Dist. 2), program chairman and Election Commissioner Edwin F. Callahan, vice chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee.

Wade Calls for Response to Impeachment Poll

POUGHKEEPSIE — R. Morse Wade, chairman of the 25th Congressional District Impeachment Committee, issued a call to concerned area residents today, urging them to respond to a recent opinion poll on the impeachment issue sent out by Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. Fish is serving on the House Judiciary Committee, which is considering the question of impeachment of President Nixon.

Fish's questionnaire asks constitutents whether they think the President should remain in office, resign, or be impeached and tried in the Senate.

"While we were disappointed in Fish's failure to vote for a simple letter to the President informing him of his non-compliance with the Committee's subpoena, we think Fish is aware of the gravity of the charges against the President and the implications of the transcripts. He is also listening to what the voters have to say," Wade said.

The Impeachment Committee which Wade heads is an affiliate of the Mid-Hudson Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union. It has carried on an information campaign since last October in support of impeachment.

MINDSZENTY WELCOMED — Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty is greeted by Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-25) at a Washington reception for those members of Congress who have "distinguished themselves in the past by promoting and supporting freedom, liberty and independence for Hungary and Hungarian people." Cardinal Mindszenty, formerly Primate of Hungary, is in the U. S. on a private pastoral visit. He presented Fish with a religious memento at the reception.

House Extends GI Benefits

WASHINGTON, D.C.

The House of Representatives has granted an emergency 30-day extension of veterans' educational and rehabilitation benefits, Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26) reported this week.

The extension was granted as the Congress debated a longer-term extension and increase in veterans educational benefits, Gilman noted.

"We must not allow these vital benefits to lapse while we talk," he said.

During debate on the extension, Gilman said:

"These young men have selflessly sacrificed several years of their lives in the service of their country, when they might have been pursuing their education and careers. Now, they ask only the opportunity to make up for lost time.

"Our nation owes them a debt that can never by fully repaid," Gilman went on.

The House is debating a measure to increase the time limit on veterans benefits from eight to 10 years and provide a 13 per cent increase in benefits. The bill, which passed the House, passed the Senate in a different version.

The legislation applies to Vietnam-era veterans who are currently attending college.

Meanwhile, Gilman has urged the Delaware River Basin Commission to "continue to investigate all possible alternatives" to a dam on the Delaware River at Tocks Island.

Gilman submitted testimony to the commission, urging that potential ecological problems connected with the Tocks project should be thoroughly studied before any construction is authorized.

"Before we jump to conclusions about the dam, we should make certain that all the evidence is before us," Gilman said. "Certainly all the facts are still not available to us and to the best of my knowledge they are not yet before the Corps of Engineers or the Delaware River Basin Commission."

Gilman added that "not only do technical and scientific questions remain unanswered, but the financial burdens arising from this project can be imposed upon private individuals and upon the adjoining municipalities. These and other pertinent questions should be fully resolved before the Congress appropriates any funds for the construction of a dam."

While he questioned the appropriation for the construction of a dam, Gilman did support the budget request of $6 million for additional land acquisition for the Tocks recreational projects, which includes a portion of western Orange County near Port Jervis.

Fish Details Plans for $$ Record

KINGSTON

Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., who announced in Kingston in a recent speech, that he will make public his personal finances, detailed today plans for his soon to be released record.

Fish said that his disclosure statement will go beyond the disclosure mandated by House rules.

The 25th District Republican said that in addition to federal, state and local taxes paid, his report will include indebtedness, sources of income, stock and bond ownership, business and professional entities in which he holds a leadership position, and sources of reimbursements for expenditures over $100, other than government and those reported as campaign contributions.

An advocate for financial disclosure for public officials, Fish said the figures would be made public and printed in the Congressional Record as soon as his accountant has prepared the information.

"In addition to the other information I will release, I believe the public is entitled to know whether members of the House of Representatives have paid approapriate federal, state and local taxes," Fish said.

Ulster Dems Back Hinchey

TOWN OF ULSTER

Town of Ulster Democratic Committee is supporting the candidacy of Democrat-Liberal Maurice Hinchey for the New York State Assembly seat in the 101st district.

The committee, meeting recently, passed a resolution endorsing Hinchey's candidacy.

In other business, the committee heard a report on registration activity presented by Janet C. Yallum, vice chairman. Kenneth Dargis, town chairman, presided.

A meeting of the newly reorganized Town of Ulster Democratic Social Club was held following the business meeting.

PRODUCERS AND PRODUCT — Teachers and pupils at Bennett Elementary School look over one of the two films that received high ratings in the New York State Youth Film and Media Regional Show. Filmmakers Lauded

BOICEVILLE — Films made by fifth and sixth graders at Bennett Elementary School have received high ratings in the New York State Youth Film and Media Regional Show at Yorktown Heights.

"A Look at the Town of Olive," depicting the history and geography of the town, received an "excellent" rating. "Super Clod," with human characters and animation, was judged "good." Comments on "A Look at the Town of Olive" included "good filming and sound track," "excellent music," "great photography," "beautiful color and nice shots," and "very well done."

Judges said "Super Clod" was "quite good," it "clearly expressed itself," had "great costumes and background," and was "very well done."

Mrs. Joanne Traub, a fifth grade teacher, started the program two years ago, as a part of the Activity Program. The film making was expanded this year to become part of the regular curriculum.

Roger Jones of the faculty and Mark Anderson, a professional film maker, assisted Mrs. Trabu. Funds were provided by the Onteora Board of Education, area businesses, and private donors.

The films were written, photographed, recorded and edited by pupils as part of their social studies and language arts programs.

Equivalency Exam Set

KINGSTON — Free examinations for a State High School Equivalency diploma will be given at Kingston High School on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, June 27, 28, and 29.

Tests will be given from 6-10 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday. All candidates must be present for all dates.

Applications must be made to H. Raymond Norman, chief examiner in Kingston, by June 14. Norman is director of the Continuing Education Department at Kingston High School. Those applying after the deadline will be scheduled only if space is still available.

Those who pass receive the New York State High School Equivalency Diploma, the legal equivalent of regular diplomas issued by local high schools throughout the state. Those who take the examination must be temporary or permanent residents of the state for at least 30 days prior to the test and at least 19 years old.

Exceptions to the minimum age requirement are made for persons 17 or 18 who have been out of school for at least one full year or whose high school class has graduated, or applicants who need test scores for armed services enlistment.

Applications and information can be obtained from the Kingston High School Continuing Education Department or the Equivalency Office of the State Education Department in Albany.

Ulster Board of Trustees Discusses Scholarship Funds

By TIM SCHUSTER

STONE RIDGE

With commencement exercises scheduled for the weekend of June 9, trustees of Ulster County Community College Tuesday night discussed how more scholarship monies might be solicited from the general public and businesses in the county.

Mrs. Lloyd LeFever, in reporting on scholarship money presently available, said that at present there is about $8,000 in, with a possibility of another $3,000 for the year.

Trustee Louis Berger commented, 'I don't think we're doing as much as we can to build up the scholarship fund to where it should be," adding that it had been at this figure for "I don't know how many years."

Trustee Raymond Garraghan said he felt the public was confused on scholarships, thinking enough money was present from county funds and state funds. "I don't think they (the public) know our need," he said.

Board Chairman Mrs. George F. Bushnell remarked that cover letters had been sent to many businesses this year with no response, and Trustee Berger said he felt that trustees should try on a "personal level" to talk to people, adding that it was not "out of order" to contact firms the college does business with to ask for scholarship aid.

Trustee Joseph Marr asked if anyone had read the Wall Street Journal lately. We must consider the financial condition this year, he said.

In other business, Mrs. Bushnell told the Freeman that the board had discussed in executive session the choosing of a successor to college President George Erbstein. She said the procedure dictates that the State University be given the trustees' recommendation for final approval before anyone could be publicly announced for the position.

Dr. Erbstein reported to the board that the college was seeking a total of $507,000 in grants for specific programs, a larger sum than last year.

He enumerated some of these as: $56,000 from the Environmental Protection Agency to study water pollution problems and develop programs; nursing capitation grant of $21,000; service technician program of $52,800; four grants being negoitated with the Office of Local Government in Albany including $13,500 for management training to be taught in 20 places around the county; $48,000 for eight hour courses in legislative powers and duties for local officials; and $51,670 to educate more than 300 persons in the use of computer terminals for the county's new computer.

Also, $51,000 has been received in the Educational Opportunities Program; pending is $27,000 in national student loans; and hoped for is $47,000 to train local law enforcement personnel.

College Dean David Bartlett explained the training received by four persons at the college in administering the General Aptitude Test Battery (GATB), one of two upstate community colleges that have received such training.

And Dr. Erbstein recounted the program for graduation, noting that Ed Nadel of the college would present the main address entitled "Global Economy In The American Century." About 400 students will receive their Associate Degrees.

Saugerties Budget ...Many Questions

By CARL GRAHAM

SAUGERTIES

Only a handful of people showed up Tuesday night for the public hearing on the Saugerties School District's 1974-75 budget. They made up in questions what they lacked in numbers.

Robert Francello, Board of Education president, called the $7,006,000 budget "realistic" and said it reflects the needs of the community while being fair to the taxpayers.

The budget, up for a vote June 12, is up about 10 per cent from this year's figure, but it could have been more. A combination of slashes by the Budget Committee, increased total valuation in the Town of Saugerties, and a state aid boost from $860 to $960 means that Saugerties residents, who pay more than 93 per cent of the total budget, will pay about five cents per thousand less this year. Woodstock residents will pay $3.27 more and Town of Ulster residents $3.81 more.

John O'Rourke, chairman of the Budget Committee, said that original staff requests for services would have meant a rate increase of $50 per thousand. Using last year's state aid figure, the committee cut this to $30 and again to $6, with the assesment boost and increased state aid making the small cut possible, he said.

Ms. Nancy Ciaffone asked if the district planned to move the Cahill School kindergarten back in to the school from its present location in the basement of the Saugerties Library. Francello said that parents had been misinformed about the space available.

"The room simply is not available," he said. "The board felt we could not accommodate these people at this time."

On several occasions Francello criticized the Ulster County BOCES administration as unresponsive to the needs of the people and arrogant. "I have never dealt with a group more unresponsive to the needs of the people they serve," he said. "I will continue to be critical of them until they change. I feel the students are suffering because of their arrogant attitude."

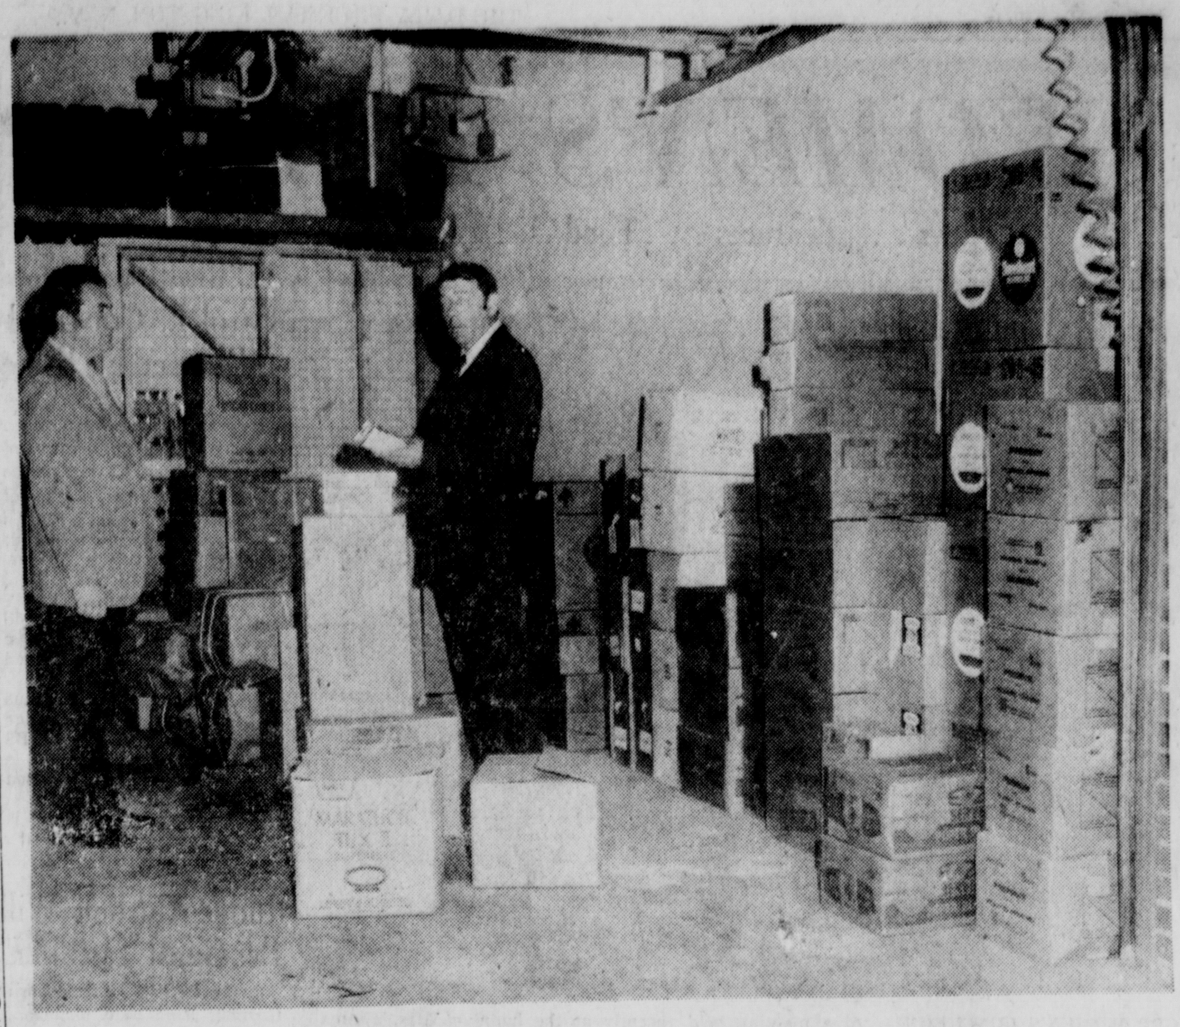

He said the Saugerties district would get out of the BOCES program if it could and would like to start its own programs "but space is tight."

Asked about possible use of the former Malden, Flatbush, and Hill Street school buildings, to help ease the district's space problems, Francello said the board had had the buildings appraised to determine the best possible use for them. Converting them back to school buildings could present problems because of restrictive State Education Department policies on buildings, he said.

Asked what would have happened to the budget if state aid and the Saugerties total valuation had not increased, O'Rourke said the board probably would have had to cut services. He wouldn't vote for any tax increase over $5 per thousand, he said.

Francello said he felt a majority would have supported a tax increase but that the board would have had to cut services, too.

Mrs. Alice Tipp, WHITA president, asked if it was possible for the public to be told individual salaries of teachers. Francello said a state public disclosure law would make it mandatory next year but that he was opposed to revealing them.

Stolen Property Seizure

Kingston Police Chief Julius M. Glassman (L) and Deputy Chief William Slover check over a huge quantity of stolen property seized early Tuesday after patrolmen noticed two men unloading a van at a Broadway ice cream parlor. Inventory of the property taken from Spiegel Brothers Paper Company Warehouse on Ulster Avenue Mall is continuing, with the latest estimate of the value of the goods exceeding $2,000. Bruce A. Kniffen, 20, of 5 Rock City Road, Woodstock and Robert Bond, 23, no home address, who were originally charged with second degree possession of stolen property. They were scheduled to be rearraigned on new charges in City Court today. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Red Hook: Nursery School Goals

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Women's Page Editor

Given the proper educational opportunities, children can put their individual skills to use, learn how to get along with each other and slowly prepare to take over responsibility for the conduct of our world.

That's a rather awesome thought particiualry when you are talking about children in the three to five age group.

One educator puts it this way: "As more and more research is being done in elementary education, it is being proven that children between the ages of three and five are an untapped resource. Their ability to learn and comprehend are quite unbelieivable."

This is the thinking behind a nursery school in Red Hook. Founded in 1971 by Mrs. Carolyn DiMauro, former head teacher for the Kingston Nursery School and trainer of aides for the Office of Economic Opportunity here, the school is located in the United Methodist Church, corner of Market and Church Streets.

Called the Church Street Community Nursery School, it is non-profit and non-sectarian.

The school is governed by a volunteer board of directors and is now registering students for the fall semester.

Mrs. DiMauro, who teaches the five-day classes, was graduated from State University at Cobeleskill in 1966 with an Associate in Nursery Education. She has worked in Pediatrics at Albany Medical Center, was head teacher at the Southampton Fresh Air Home for Handicapped Children and for five years was in charge of the arts and crafts department for the Kingston Jewish Community Center's Camp Hurley.

The women's department of The Daily Freeman has learned that Church Street Community Nursery School does not stress reading and number work but "provides a learning experience for children between the ages of three and five preparing that child for kindergarten where he or she will receive his introduction to the more formal school program."

Mrs. DiMauro has stated the school gives parents in communities served an opportunity to choose a direction for their child resulting in a head start toward their formal school years." . . . The child who attends a nursery school usually excels in kindergarten and through is entire school experience," Mrs. DiMauro says.

Classes are limited to 14 children and, in addition to the five day sessions, two and three day sessions are offered.

Programming includes social skills, readiness for learning skills, music, singing, storytime, quiet work periods, puzzles, art projects and field trips. Physical activities and free play periods are also part of the schedule.

MRS. CAROLYN DI MAURO, founder of the Church Street Commmunity School in Red Hook, works with students in her class. They are (L-R) Juliane Bauer, Craig Decker, Laura Neuman and Gary Rachel. The school, non-profit and no sectarian, operates on a full week's schedule or lesser sessions. Detailed information may be obtained at the school. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Class sessions are from 9 a.m. to 11:30; and 1-3:30 p.m. The school term follows the Red Hook Central School schedule.

Teaching the three and two day classes are Miss Janet Machell. She received her Associate in Kindergarten and Nursery Education from Endicott Junior College, Beverly, Mass., and has studied at the University of New Hampshire, New England College and Johnson State College. She will receive her Bachelor Degree in Elementary Education from Johnson State College, University of Vermont.

Anyone interested in obtaining more detailed information about the Church Street Community Nursery School should contact either Mrs. DiMauro or Miss Machell in Red Hook.

The Impossible Cream

It stays fresh for three weeks. Dairylea Guarantees it!

Say goodbye to substitutes. Here's real cream that's guaranteed by Dairylea to last three full weeks in your refrigerator, as fresh as the day you bought it.

Impossible? Not anymore. We just treat real fresh cream to a new improved process—Ultra Pasteurization—the biggest breakthrough in pasteurization since Dr. Pasteur himself.

Thanks to Ultra Pasteurization, Dairylea can guarantee that your Half & Half, Light Cream and Heavy Cream will be fresh when you buy them and still fresh three weeks after you open them. So hurry to try Dairylea's "impossible" creams, then relax and take your time enjoying them.

OUTDOOR ENTERTAINING

As summer approaches, we all start to think happily about outdoor entertaining. Barbecues, beach picnics, patio parties, and many others are one of the pleasantest things about the arrival of warm weather.

Outdoor entertaining is, of course, more informal than indoor. And yet there are certain "rules," or better, "guidelines," to follow. If you have just acquired a house with a yard, or an apartment with a nice balcony, you may be new to the barbecue game. Read today's quiz — the questions and answers may solve some problems that have puzzled you, and give you some ideas, besides.

1. Q. Must you have seating

A. You must have someplace they can sit down, but this does not necessarily mean chairs. Put a few cushions or pads on a patio wall, and you will have plenty of seats. On a balcony where it could be dangerous to sit on the wall, make a simple bench by laying a board or two across two or three cinder blocks. Cover with blankets, oilcloth or "contact" paper.

2. Q. May you use paper plates?

A. Yes, indeed, but be sure the heavy plasticized variety. Nothing is more distressing than trying to cut meat on a flimsy plate, or even to hold it in your lap.

3. Q. What is the best way to light the area?

A. Floodlights. If you can hang several floodlight from nearby trees or from the corners of ceilings or roofs, directed at the grill for the benefit of the cook, and at the serving table for the sake of the guests, it is ideal. The reflected and outer area of the light ray will be sufficient to eat by and makes for romantic surroundings.

4. Q. Must all the food be cooked on the grill?

A. Not at all. Real fanatics make a point of doing so, broiling the meat or fish on the top, roasting potatoes or corn in the coals, and cooking vegetables wrapped in foil around the edges. However, unless your grill is enormous, I find that cooking a casserole or the vegetables on the stove, and bringing them out when the meat is ready, is easier and just as satisfactory.

5. Q. What are the best beverages to serve at a barbecue?

A. Whatever appeals to you and your friends. If you wish to serve cocktails and mixed drinks, fine, but there is no need to do so. Beer is a fine acccompaniment to grilled meat, and so is red wine, or white for a fish barbecue.

6. Q. Do you have a favorite barbecue menu?

A. Indeed I do — shish kabob. I thread chunks of lamb and beef, mushrooms, green peppers, onions, and tomatoes alternately on skewers — ahead of time. We roast them over the coals and serve one whole skewer to each guest. A bit of work ahead of time, but well worth the effort, and easy to serve and eat. With salad, it makes a comple meal.

Abby: If Streaking Offends, Wear Blinders

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: You hear so much talk about how terrible the young people are, but how about the adults?

This new streaking fad is being encouraged by people who are old enough to know better. You can't pick up a newspaper without reading about a streaker. And everyone thinks it's something to laugh about.

Well, last week my 43-year-old husband went to take his usual shower before dinner, when all of a sudden we heard the shower door bang, and in nothing flat here comes my husband running completely naked past me, our teen-aged daughter and two teen-aged sons! He ran through the living room, dining room, kitchen and back to the bedroom. He thought he was being funny. I was furious, and the children were too shocked to say anything.

What do you think about this streaking business?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: I think that there is so much to cry about today, that streaking is part of the "anything-for-a-laugh" syndrome. For my part, if something I didn't want to see more of came into view, I'd quickly close my eyes.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am doing time in a federal penitentiary, and have noticed that you seem to have a sympathetic feeling toward prisoners.

I won't go into my history because it would take up your whole column, but I do have a favor to ask of you. I want to study the Bible, but I don't have one. Could you please send me one? I am a Christian. I am not begging. I can pay for it a little at a time. I am black and male, if that matters

FOUR YEARS TO GO

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR FOUR: Your color doesn't matter, but your sex does because I have a friend in Dallas, Tex., who will send a red Bible to any man in prison who wants one, and a white Bible to every female inmate. It comes with instructions on how to study, and it's free. His name is Chaplain Ray. Send me your complete address and I'll do the rest. God bless.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: The following story is almost identical to the one described by Loved and Lost, which recently appeared in your column. Only the ending is different. I think it's worth printing.

Mature man in his 40s meets younger charming woman in her 20s. She's sexy, charming, vivacious, etc. A serious emotional involvement follows. After a six months hidden passionate affair the man leaves his wife of 16 years and several wonderful children. He begins a new "heavenly" life with the younger woman, and after one year he finds that she is selfish, moody, materialistic, arrognat and possessive. The situation becomes intolerable, and the love affair is over.

All this time the wife had been getting counseling to help her over this painful experience. I asked if we could try again and this magnificent woman took me back with dignity and nobility. For her the whole miserable espisode never happened, and she refuses to hear even one word about it.

Conclusion: There are still women who hold the home and family above their own pride

PLEASE WITHHOLD MY NAME

CONFIDENTIAL TO B. L.: No one said it better than Sibyl Krausz:

"I know what every woman needs

As she, perforce, grows older:

A true and understanding friend

To lend a weproof shoulder,

And who, when they shall meet again,

Forgets the things she told her."

Welcome Wagon International will sponsor another informative and entertaining party for engaged girls. It will be held at 7:30 p.m. on June 6 in the Holiday Inn, Kingston.

This party is especially for fall and winter brides-to-be. There will be a bridal fashion show and displays by participating merchants whose representatives. They will be available to meet with future brides and guests.

Area businessmen participating include: The Brides Shoppe, Equitable Life Assurance Co., Esposito's Tux Rental, Holiday Inn, Schneider's Jewelery, Tom Reynolds Studio, and the Woodstock Flower Shop.

All Ulster County betrothed girls are eligible to attend with two guests of their choice.

For free tickets contact: Welcome Wagon Hostess, Mrs. John Skinner, Rifton; or the Welcome Wagon Answering Service.

Food Tips

Cube Steaks

Cube steaks need only searing in a little salad oil in a very hot skillet when they are to be used in sandwiches. Serve these sandwiches with pickle relish or catchup, or both, as you serve hamburgers.

Fondue Bourguignonne?

Serving fondue bourguignonne? Some epicurean cooks like to use half salad oil and half butter for the fondue pot in which the beef is to be cooked. Tartar sauce, homemade or bought, is a good accompaniment for the cooked cubes of beef.

To Stretch Chicken

To stretch chicken for a salad, add cooked rice along with the diced celery and mayonnaise. If you happen to have a small amount of cooked green peas in the refrigerator, they may also be added.

Efficient Cook

To be an efficient cook, keep on hand the items you use often and have some simple system for reminding yourself when refills are needed.

Handy Hint

Not to brides: when you are buying kitchenware, remember that pots and pans with rounded corners and few seams or crevices simplify dishwashing.

New Potatoes

When you cook new potatoes in their skin, do so in about an inch of boiling salted water. Use about one-quarter teaspoon salt for each half-cup of water.

hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

A "PASSPORT" BUREAU FOR TINY TRAVELERS!

Dear Heloise:

We have a tiny, tiny baby. So sweet, so round and beautiful.

My husband travels and oftentimes I go with him and we take our "dolly." As she is in her bassinet all day, or in our lap, we like to have her freshened up at night. Know what we do?

We remove one of the bureau drawers in the hotel or motel room, put a pillow from the bed in the bottom and use her own blankets, etc. in it. She sleeps snug all night.

If you put two stuffed chairs together and set the drawer in them, she is easy to reach. Please pass this onto those who travel with babies.

Love Mother

And that's just what you are. Our very own love, mother and angel.

Dear Heloise:

When you have an African violet almost a foot in diameter — one and a half inches to be exact — leaves occasionally get broken off.

When this happens, I place the leaf in a rose bud vase filled with a liquid plant food mixture and spray it daily for two to three weeks. By then, the roots are developed and it's ready to be transplanted; a very light plant soil is best for this.

All three of my transplants are thriving.

Dear Heloise:

A paper clip is the best book mark I ever used. It is especially good on magazines. Never lose a place and always available.

Dear Heloise:

After visits from grandchildren and nieces and nephews, we usually find toys or articles of clothing left behind.

I covered a packing case with colorful adhesive-backed paper, lettered it "Lost and Found" and invite our visitors to look over the contents before they leave.

Many items have found their way back to the owners.

It also has a way of reminding visitors to take one last look to see if they have forgotten anything.

Any container will do — basket, pail, or box.

Dear Heloise:

When I am hanging sheer curtains (the ones you have to put a rod through), I slip a finger from an old plastic glove over the rod end and then push the rod through the curtain opening.

Tissue thin gloves will go through the curtain easily and without damage to the curtain. It can be used again and you still have other glove fingers, plus another glove for future use.

Dear Heloise:

When a cookie recipe calls for "dropped from a spoon" — try a knife instead.

Just swipe it through the cookie dough, scoop it up and roll it off with your finger. I find that it works much easier and isn't as messy.

SPRING LUNCHEON — The Ninth Annual Spring Luncheon sponsored by the Lutheran Church Women of Christ's Church, Woodstock, held this month was opened to area church women's groups. Doris Blatter, choir director, and Barbara Pickhardt, organist, at Christ's Lutheran Church, presented a program. They were assisted by Eve Berg, Henry Sykes and James Cummins of the Stretto Singers. At a preliminary meeting were Mrs. Lyle Carter; Mrs. William Conroy, president; and Mrs. Dwight Baldus, vice president and cochairman. Mrs. Malvin Bilsback also served as co-chairman. The group is also in the process of making plans for its annual fair and chicken barbecue which will be held Saturday, June 22, starting at 11 a. m. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

KHS CHOIR OFFICERS, Diane Tatara, treasurer and Donald Boyce, president, prepare for the KHS Choir Concert on Friday, May 31 at 8:15 p.m. in the KHS auditorium. Featured work on the program is "Gloria" by Arnold Freed, a powerful choral piece with piano and timpani accompaniment. The second half of the program will be devoted to selections such as "You'll Never Walk Alone," an arrangement of "Kites are Fun" with flute obligato, and a medly of songs from the Broadway musical "South Pacific." Tickets may be purchased from any choir member or at the door.

Food Buys This Week

This week's retail meat prices will continue to glide along at the same level as they have for the past several weeks, according to the Consumer and Market Information Service of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. However, there will be a fair number of specials in many stores. These sale items are real budget savers and are worthwhile shopping around for.

The long holiday weekend specials, frankfurters, hamburger and fryers, for the outdoor cooking enthusiast will continue to be well featured in many stores. So, look for frankfurters from 69c to $1.09, hamburger from 79c to $1.29, and fryers from 35c to 45c.

Other economical beef purchases will be short ribs at 75c, beef liver at 65c, chuck roast from 79c to $1.15, and corned beef as low as 98c in one area. In the steak line, there will be specials on cube steak from $1.39 to $1.80, rib steak from $1.29 to $1.39, and chuck steak from 60c to $1.09. A few stores will have standing rib roast at $1.35, rump roast at $1.50, bottom round roast at $1.55, stew beef from $1.19 to $1.30, club steak and London broil at $1.59, and sirloin steak at $1.35

Smoked ham will be a good purchase, as it has been for the past several weeks, with butts from 69c to 75c and shanks at 59c. Other attractive purchases worth shopping for are fresh and smoked shoulder picnics from 43c to 55c, sausage from 59c to 98c, bacon from 59c to 99c, and various ribs and loin roasts in the 79c to 99c price range. Specials on chops will prevail in several areas with center cut chops from $1.19 to $1.35, combination chops from $1.19 to $1.29, and rib chops from 78c to 90c.

Cut up broilers and fryers will be on sale from 39c to 59c, chicken breasts from 85c to 88c, and as low as 66c in units of five pounds, and Cornish game hens at 78c. Other poultry items, lamb and veal are not expected to be featured to any extent.

A Patio Party With Paradise Crepes

Soft, summer breezes may spin you out to the patio or porch. What's going to tease you and your guests into eating on a hot, muggy day?

Tropical Paradise Crepes with their light filling of Swiss and Cottage cheese, pineapple and ham may be just enough to charm the most wilted appetite. Serve them with a freshly crisp and elegant salad of greens like romaine and endive livened with onion rings and fresh mushroom slices, along with a sophisticated beverage made with coffee or tea mixed with milk and ice cream.

Crepes are the kind of food that can be prepared when you're in the mood and then frozen. When old friends call you, right out of the blue, simply because they're passing through, you can easily put together the kind of meal to serve proudly.

Coffee or tea with milk and ice cream are just the kind of coolers that can be served with this kind of meal. They're just as nourishing as they're chic, an dyou don't really need a separate dessert.

Tropical Paradise Crepes

Twelve cooked crepes*
One can (eight and one-quarter oz.) crushed pineapple
One cup (four oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
One and one-half cups finely chopped cooked ham (about one-half pound)
One cup cottage cheese
One cup dairy sour cream
Three tablespoons pineapple syrup
Ground cloves

Drain, pineapple, reserving syrup. In a small bowl blend together Swiss cheese, ham, cottage cheese and pineapple. To assemble crepes: Spoon about one-quarter cup ham mixture on each crepe and roll tightly. Place crepes in buttered (7x11x2-inch) baking dish. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 15 minutes. Meanwhile combine sour cream and reserved pineapple syrup. Spread over crepes. Sprinkle on cloves. Return to oven and bake about 5 minutes more or until crepes are heated through and sour cream is glazed. Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: Crepes may be made ahead, filled and stored in refrigerator overnight. Bring to room temperature and bake.

*Crepes

Thee tablespoons butter
Three-quarter cups all-purpose flour
One-quarter teaspoon salt
Three eggs
One cup milk

Melt butter in heavy 8-inch skillet. Combine flour and salt. Add eggs, milk and melted butter (set aside skillet); beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Heat buttered skillet over medium-low heat. For each crepe pour 2 tablespoons batter in skillet; immediately rotate pan. Cook until light brown; turn and brown other side. Stack between sheets of waxed paper or paper toweling until ready to use. Yield: approx. 12.

NOTE: Crepes may be frozen.

Lemon Tea Refresher

Three cups milk
One-third cup instant tea powder
Two tablespoons sugar
One pint lemon sherbet, softened
Lemon slices

In blender combine milk, instant tea and sugar; blend in sherbet. Pour into glasses. Garnish with lemon slice. Yield: approx. 5 cups.

Frosted Coffee

Two tablespoons instant coffee
Two tablespoons brown sugar
One-quarter cup hot water
Two cups milk
One-half pint vanilla ice cream, softened

In blender combine coffee, sugar and hot water; blend in milk and ice cream. Pour into glasses. Top with scoop of vanilla ice cream, if desired. Yield: approx. 3¼ cups.

TROPICAL PARADISE CREPES are a deliightful entree for patio or porch. They're served with a green salad laced with onion rings and mushroom slices. Lemon Tea Refresher complements the luncheon.

Tongore Garden Club

Tongore Garden Club will hold its third meeting of the 1974 season Thursday, June 13 in the Community Room of Olive Free Library, West Shokan.

This meeting will be divided into two sessions. The first at 10:30 a.m. will be devoted to a workshop on the "Mechanics of Flower Arrangement," led by guest instructor, Mrs. Clyde Deavers of Woodstock Garden Club.

After lunch there will be two talks on "Preserved Flowers." Speakers will be Mrs. Donald F. Bishop and Mrs. George Scherrer.

Mrs. George Scherrer is serving as chairman of the morning session with Mrs. Erich Krause in charge of the afternoon session. Members are asked to bring a sandwich. Beverages and dessert will be served. Hostesses will be Mrs. Herman Asam and Mrs. Raymond C. Cruthers.

Helpful Food Hints

Leftover Egg

Refrigerated leftover egg yolks and whites should be used within two to four days.

Storing Salad Oil

Store a bottle of salad oil that has been opened in the refrigerator; if the oil clouds or solidifies, it need only be warmed to room temperature to become clear and liquid again.

Refrigerate Eggs

Eggs quickly lose their mild flavor if they are left at room temperature for even a short time. As soon as they are brought from the food market they should be refrigerated.

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS®
...it tells you how

Ever have the knobs of a stuck drawer come off in your hands . . . leaving you no way to open the contrary rascal? Try smacking a plumber's helper (you know, the suction cup on a stick that you usually keep hidden under the bathroom sink) onto the front of the drawer and then pulling straight out. The soft cup on the tool won't harm the surface of the wood (if it leaves any marks at all, they can be wiped off with a damp cloth) and you'll find it "sticks" tightly enough—especially if you wet its rim first—to allow you to give a pretty good tug. That's handy to know on these damp spring days when everything seems to swell up and bind.

NBA Owners Begin Flashing Cash

NEW YORK (UPI) — After selecting the outstanding talent in the collegiate ranks for the price of a phone call, National Basketball Association owners began throwing around millions and millions of dollars today in an effort to sign those choices.

The prevailing attitude of the Basketball Class of '74 was summed up by Campy Russell, the eighth player chosen in Tuesday's collegiate draft, when he said: "I'll sign wherever the money is, I think, either with the NBA or ABA, whichever one has it."

Russell, a 6-8 forward from the University of Michigan with another year of college eligibility, was the first of the players with hardship status to be chosen. He was selected by the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Some clubs were a little more fortunate in early dealings with their top choices. The Portland Trail Blazers, who knew weeks ago they would choose No. 1, went into the draft with 6-11 center Bill Walton of UCLA already tucked away with a five-year contract. Walton, a three-time Player of the Year, will receive between two and three million dollars.

The Kansas City - Omaha Kings, another team which needs instant help, also rejoiced in a quick signing when their first choice, 6-7 forward Scott Wedman of Colorado, agreed to a four-year contract.

"Kansas City just had a better offer," said Wedman, who previously had been drafted by Memphis of the ABA. "That's the main reason right now. I didn't really consider too much about the leagues."

Centers were in prime demand during the draft, which was conducted by telephonic hook-up to the NBA office in New York. Following Walton, the Philadelphia 76ers chose 6-8 Marvin Barnes of Providence, the Seattle SuperSonics chose 7-4 Tom Burleson of NCAA champion North Carolina State and the Phoenix Suns took 6-8 John Shumate of Notre Dame.

If Shumate signs with Phoenix, he undoubtedly will switch to forward since the Suns already have 6-10 Neal Walk.

Burleson, who will become the tallest player in the pro ranks, wasn't surprised at being chosen third and said he was going to leave the negotiations relating both to money and team, to his agent, Norman Blass. Indiana has the ABA rights to him.

"They said they were going to pick me," Burleson said of his selection by Seattle. "Negotiations will start now between my agent and Seattle and Indiana."

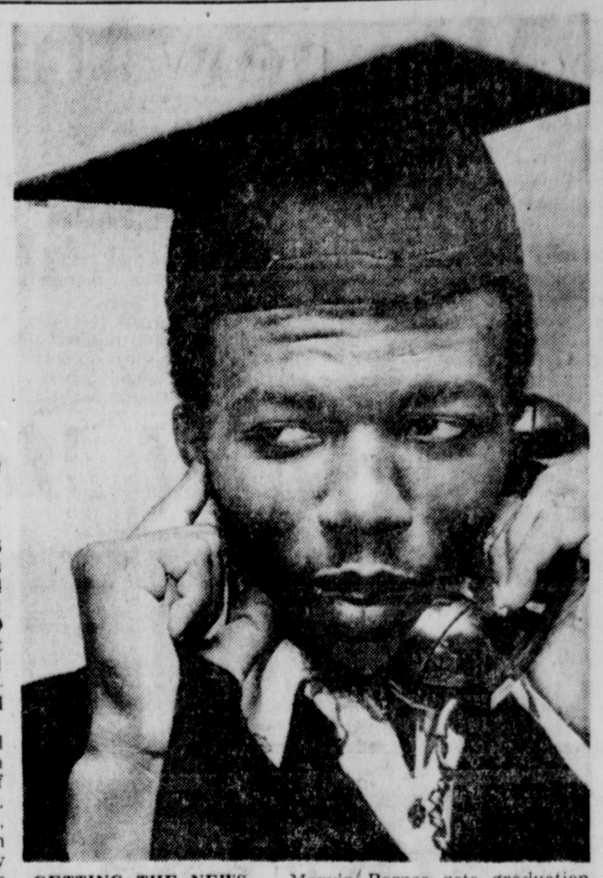

In addition to Russell, four other hardship players were chosen on the first round, including a freshman, 6-8 forward Cliff Pondexter of Long Beach State, selected by the Chicago Bulls. Chicago, making another selection on the opening round as the result of a deal completed less than an hour earlier which sent Howard Porter to the New York Knicks, used it to take 6-9 forward Maurice Lucas of Marquette.

The other underclassmen picked in the opening round were 6-7 center Mike Sojourner of Utah, selected by the Atlanta Hawks on a pick they acquired from New Orleans in the Pete Maravich deal, and 6-3 guard Gary Brokaw of Notre Dame, chosen by Milwtukee.

Roscoe Pondexter, a brother of Cliff and another player with hardship status, was chosen on the third round by Boston. Roscoe is a 6-6 forward from Long Beach State.

Other first-round choices were: Houston—Bob Jones, a 6-8 forward from North Carolina; Atlanta—Tom Henderson, a 6-2 guard from Hawaii; Buffalo—Tom McMillen, a 6-11 forward-center from Maryland; Golden State—Keith Wilkes, a 6-6 forward from UCLA; Los Angeles—Brian Winters, a 6-4 guard from South Carolina; Washington—Len Elmore, a 6-9 center from Maryland; Detroit—Al Eberhard, a 6-5 forward from Missouri; and Boston—Glen McDonald, a 6-5 forward from Long Beach State.

Portland, which has finished last in each of its four years in the NBA, also picked up a lot of supplementary help for Walton. As the result of previous deals, the Blazers had three choices in the second round and they selected 6-7 forward Jan Van Breda Kolff of Vanderbilt, 6-0 guard Phil Lumpkin of Miami of Ohio and 6-3 guard Rubin Collins of Maryland Eastern Shore.

GETTING THE NEWS — Marvin Barnes gets graduation day news at Providence College Tuesday that he was No. 1 choice of Philadelphia 76ers in the NBA draft. Barnes was the second player selected in the draft behind Bill Walton of UCLA who earlier had been picked and signed by Portland. (UPI)

Knicks Deal for Bulls' Porter

NEW YORK (AP) — It was one of those around-the-clock, night-before-the-draft skull sessions with the brain trust of the New York Knicks. New York was faced with the 14th pick in Tuesday's National Basketball Association college player draft—or a trade.

So the Knicks picked a deal instead of a player and acquired 6-foot-8 forward Howard Porter and a second-round choice next year from the Chicago Bulls in exchange for this year's No. 14 selection.

"We went down the list and saw who might be left when our turn came around, and felt Porter was better than what was available," said New York's chief scout, Dick McGuire.

"Any time you can pick 14th and come up with a guy who's been in the league for three years, you have to be satisfied."

Veteran Phil Jackson further analysed the merits of the trade. "You can't expect to get a good, big man in the 14th round. You want an experienced ballplayer for a championship team," he said.

And that's what the Knicks have obtained, although Porter doesn't have as much experience as he wanted, playing infrequently last season behind Chicago's All NBA forwards Bob Love and Chet Walker.

"I learned a lot while playing with Love and Walker, but I could never use that knowledge on the floor," Porter said. "There was a stage at the end of the season when I was averaging 17, 18 points in 16 minutes and being taken out of a game in critical situations.

"I don't think talent can be scheduled per minute."

The opening on the squad created when Dave DeBusschere departed for the Knicks' cross-city, other-league rivals, the Nets, may not be helpful to Porter's starting hopes. Jackson, Mel Davis and Harthorne Wingo are carryovers from last season, along with Bill Bradley, who has not made his future plans public "and if we can make a deal for George McGinnis, I'm sure we can find room for him," added New York Coach Red Holzman.

Porter led the Villanova Wildcats to second place in the NCAA championships in 1971, but the runner-up honor was later stripped from the club when it was discovered Porter had signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Condors of the American Basketball Association while still a student.

Eventually, Porter found himself with the Bulls, and a late-night selection of the New York Knicks.

Hadfield Bitter

NEW YORK (AP) — Vic Hadfield, the veteran left wing of the New York Rangers, reacted with bewilderment and some bitterness Tuesday night to his trade to the Pittsburgh Penguins for defenseman Nick Beverly.

"The Rangers don't need any more defensemen, it's as plain as the nose on your face," the 33-year-old Hadfield said from his Oakville, Ont. home. "I thought the Rangers would at least trade to help themselves."

In Hadfield's judgement, Rangers coach and general manager Emile Francis did not trade to help the National Hockey League club, since there already are five defensemen on the roster. And there was another area which disappointed Hadfield: the way Francis broke the news to the 13-year veteran Monday.

The phone rang in Hadfield's home Tuesday after he returned from the golf course he is building near Toronto.

"First, he asked me how my golf course was going, then he asked how my holiday was going. Then he said he had some bad news for me."

The bad news was that Hadfield's career as a Ranger had come to an end after becoming the fourth-leading scorer in the club's history with 572 points and a 50-goal season in 1972. It was after the 50-goal season that Hadfield signed a five-year contract at a reported $1 million.

"I'm sure my contract had a lot to do with it," Hadfield admitted. "But I have to believe there was a lot of pressure from the top (owner Bill Jennings). I expected trades to be made, but I thought others would go first," Hadfield said.

The Rangers signed a number of their top players to long-term contracts after the 1972 season in order to keep the players from jumping to the World Hockey Association. Observers felt this was an attempt to "buy" the Stanley Cup.

The attempt failed. In the 1973-74 season, the Rangers finished a diappointing third to the Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens in the NHL East Division, then were eliminated in the semifinal round of the playoffs by the Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers. Hadfield, hampered by injuries, scored only 55 points after dwindling to 62 points the season before.

In the 50-goal season, Hadfield finished with 106 points.

At first, Francis wouldn't tell Hadfield who the Rangers had received. "Who can figure Francis out?" Hadfield asked. "I don't want to say anything bad about anyone. I don't know much about Beverly, but I did think they would get more for me."

Beverly, 27, scored two goals and added 14 assists for the Penguins after being traded during the season from the Boston Bruins.

Goaltender Ed Giacomin was not surprised by a trade. "I think a lot of it had to do with the injuries Vic had to play with this year, although he gave as much as he always did," Giacomin said.

There apparantly will be more trades in the Rangers' future. Francis reportedly had been trying to peddle defenseman Rod Seiling, goaltender Gilles Villemure, and defenseman-forward Ron Harris before the trading deadline Monday night in an effort to achieve the shakeup many think is necessary.

Gordie Most Valuable... Mark Rookie-of-the-Year

TORONTO (UPI) — It wasn't exactly a surprise but Gordie Howe was named the World Hockey League's Most Valuable Player Wednesday and his son Mark was named the rookie of the year.

It has to be the first time in professional sports history that a father has been named the MVP of a league the same year that his son was named the top rookie.

Howe, of course, was lured out of retirement by the WHA Houston Aeros by a six-figure contract—and the opportunity to play on the same team with his two sons.

The player of Howe, Howe and Howe was a major reason that Houston won the WHA championship this season.

In a rugged sport that often takes its toll of an athlete in his mid 30's, Howe is still going strong at age 46.

In a poll of writers and broadcasters in the league cities, Howe received 22 first place votes, eight second place votes and one third for a total of 135 points. Mike Walton of Minnesota was a distant second with 86 points while Gerry Cheevers of Cleveland got just nine points.

Mark Howe won the rookie-of-the-year award by an even bigger margin than the one his father got in the MVP balloting. Mark got 18 first place votes, seven seconds and eight thirds for 115 points while Vancouver's Claude St. Sauveur was second with 58 points and Toronto's Wayne Dillon was third with 53 points.

Murcer Making New Contribution

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Murcer, before Tuesday nights' game with Chicago, on being switched from center to right field: "If it helps us win the game, I'm all for it."

Bobby Murcer, after singling off Terry Forster in the 10th inning and scoring the winning run on Craig Nettles' double, giving the New York Yankees a 3-2 victory over the White Sox: "I'm happy we won and I'm happy I had something to do with it."

Murcer had a busy evening as he returned to right field for the first time since 1969. He doubled home a run off Stan Bahnsen in the first inning and scored on Ron Blombergs' triple.

He made a quick pickup of a ground ball that skidded past first baseman Chris Chambliss in the seventh and his strong throw alomst nailed Carlos May at the plate. And he hustled into the right field corner for some fast fielding on Eddie Loens' game-tying ground ball double in the ninth inning, which forced Ron Santo, the potential go-ahead run, to stop at third.

Murcer, who once was boomed as the next Mickey Mantle, will have to settle for being the next Babe Ruth. He's now a full-time right fielder, with Elliott Maddox, who walked and scored on Murcer's first-inning double, in center as long as he hits reasonably well.

"I made the move for defensive purposes," Manager Bill Virdon explained. "It's not so much that Murcer can't play center field, but Maddox could be one of the best center fielders in baseball. It depends on how he hits."

"Of course I'm disappointed," was Murcer's reaction to the position switch. "But it's not going to affect me. I'm going to play right field the best I know how.

"I'd say the move came as a surprise. I found out when I looked at the line-up card. Then, Bill just told me I was playing right field and I said okay. I didn't speak to him about it. What's there to speak about?"

Meanwhile, Maddox, in addition to his walk, contributed a single and a sparkling backhand grab of May's liner to deep center in the fourth inning.

"I can understand Bobby being unhappy," Maddox said. "But I didn't talk with him about the move. There's nothing really to talk about. I didn't have anything to do with it. The manager does what he figures will help the ballclub and I'm just glad to be in his plans."

Murcer was just about to leave the clubhouse when a television set caught his attention. The announcer was talking about the outfield switch and said that "with less room to cover, Murcer might become a pretty good right fielder."

"Oh," Murcer said to the TV set, "thank you."

BOOMER BUMPED — Ron Blomberg of the Yankees is unceremoniously tagged out by White Sox catcher Ed Hermann in first inning of Tuesday night's game. Blomberg attempted to score from third on Graig Nettles' slow roller to first base. (UPI)

Big Red Machine Is In Gear

LONG BALL NIGHT — Mets' losing pitcher George Stone has a little time on his hands as the Reds' Merv Rettenmund (L) and Johnny Bench (R) round the bases after unloading homers in fourth and third innings respectively. Reds won, 7-2. (UPI)

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — New York Mets Manager Yogi Berra, whose pitchers were mowed down twice in a row by the surging Cincinnati Reds, sends Jon Matlack, 5-2 to the mound tonight hoping to beat Don Gullett 5-3.

"They been scoring early against us," said Berra, after the Reds, brandishing home runs by John Bench and Merv Rettenmund, routed New York 7-2. It was the fifth straight victory for Cincinnati.

George Stone, 2-4, was roughed up for all the runs in his 4 2/3 innings while Cincinnati's Clay Kirby, 3-3, didn't need relief help from Clay Carroll until the final out.

"He could have had a shutout," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson, "and this was not one of his better games."

Kirby, making his 10th fielding error in five games, allowed the Mets two unearned runs in the sixth inning. He fielded Ron Hodges' comeback grounder, wheeled to throw out Ken Boswell at second and heaved the ball past Dave Concepcion. Bud Harrelson singled home one run and Felix Millan collected an RBI with a sacrifice fly.

"The Machine looks like it's in gear," said Bench, who jumped on Stone's hanging curve ball in the third inning for a two-run homer. It was Bench's 10th homer.

"It felt super," he said, adding: "Here we go, that's the way we're supposed to do it, you know, each guy picking up the other." The Reds are trying to catch the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League Western Division.

Tony Perez singled home Joe Morgan in the first inning.

Rettenmund blasted his sixth home run in the fourth. Rettenmund was brought from Baltimore to hit left hand pitching.

"I'm hitting home runs and I'm hitting right handers, but not lefthanders," the outfielder said.

"This is the first time I ever got two hits off a lefthander in a game." Rettenmund had been benched five games while hitting coach Ted Kluszewski worked on his stance.

Rettenmund scored on Dan Driessen's double.

Pete Rose is not expected to play today, although doctors said he suffered only bruises crashing into the left field wall in the seventh inning after catching a foul fly by Dave Schneck.

"A guy not as strong and well put together could have been seriously hurt," said Manager Anderson. Rose tripped over the visitors' bull pen pitching mound.

The Mets and Reds finish their three-game series tonight.

Aaron Still Chasing

Hank Aaron is not through chasing Babe Ruth, it seems. And you thought it was all over when he hit No. 715 earlier this year.

In April, the Atlanta slugger hit the shot heard 'round the world by surpassing Ruth's famous 714 lifetime home run figure. But there was another Ruthian record that even Aaron himself didn't know about—730 homers including World Series and All-Star games.

He tied it Tuesday night with a homer that beat the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 in 10 innings.

"Oh, no, you're kidding!" Aaron exclaimed upon learning of the feat. "I thought that I had gotten rid of Ruth's records once and for all. I guess the Ruth thing will be with me for the rest of my life."

The blast, ninth this year and 722nd of his career in regular season games, ended a longball drought for the classy Brave hitter. He had't hit a baseball out of the park since May 12.

In the National League's other games, the Los Angeles Dodgers routed the St.Louis Cardinals 11-5; the Cincinnati Reds tripped the New York Mets 7-2 and the Houston Astros trimmed the Montreal Expos 8-4.

Aaron's homer over the center field fence came off Philadelphia right-hander Jim Lonborg on a "hard slider." Lonborg, the 1967 American League Cy Young award winner, gave up four hits while walking none and striking out two.

Dodgers 11, Cards 5

Home runs by Ken McMullen and Joe Ferguson keyed a 20-hit attack that propelled Los Angeles over St. Louis.

Both homers, McMullen's second of the baseball season and Ferguson's fifth, were two-run blasts off one-time Dodger pitcher Alan Foster, who was chased after 2 2-3 innings.

Astros 8, Expos 4

Houston tagged Montreal ace Steve Rogers for five runs in the first inning, helped by Lee May's two-run single, and went on to defeat the Expos.

Gaylord Now 8-1

There's an old baseball axiom that the best trades are sometimes the ones you don't make.

The Cleveland Indians couldn't agree more this season.

They spent most of the winter trying to deal Gaylord Perry. He slumped to 19-19 last season after his Cy Young Award winning season of 24-16 in 1972 and the Indians wanted to trade the 35-year-old right-hander while he still had some market value left. They wanted some young players to build for the future.

But none of the deals worked out and Perry wound up back in a Cleveland uniform this year. The new rule which allows the umpires to eject a player for throwing the spitter was supposed to hurt him, too.

It's hurt him so much that he boosted his record to 8-1 Tuesday night with an 8-0 triumph over the Texas Rangers on a five-hitter. He's just the winningest pitcher in the majors.

And he's doing it all without the spitted. Sure . . .

Surprisingly enough, the 8-1 record isn't Perry's best start in the majors. He was 20-2 in 1966 with San Francisco before he slumped and wound up at 21-8.

In the other AL games, Kansas City downed Baltimore 9-5 in 11 innings, New York topped Chicago 3-2 in 10, Boston beat Minnesota 9-5, Milwaukee turned back California 6-2 and Detroit nipped Oakland 3-1.

Brewers 6, Angels 2

Jim Slaton and Tom Murphy combined on a seven-hitter and Dave May and George Scott hit homers to pace Milwaukee past California. Milwaukee got a pair of unearned runs off starter Dick Lange in the second and then May and Scott hit back-to-back homers in the third. Slaton went 8 1-3 innings and Murphy got the final two outs.

Tigers 3, A's 1

Gary Sutherland hit a pair of solo homers and Woody Fryman, with help from John Hiller, picked up his first victory to lead Detroit past Oakland. Fryman, who went into the game with a 6.91 ERA, retired the first 13 batters he faced and lasted for 6 2-3 innings before Hiller came on for his eighth save. Reggie Jackson went 0-for-3 for Oakland and his average dropped from .404 to .396.

Royals 9, Orioles 5

Cookie Rojas' grand slam home run in the 11th inning lifted Kansas City past Baltimore. Fran Healy's sixth-inning run-scoring single tied the game 5-5 and it remained that way until Rojas hit his grand slam off loser Bob Reynolds. Healy's 11th inning single, which sent George Brett to third and preceded an intentional walk, set the stage for Rojas' blast.

Red Sox 9, Twins 5

Bernie Carbo and Rico Petrocelli drove in a pair of runs apiece to pace Boston over Minnesota. The victory was the ninth in 10 games for the AL East leaders. Tony Oliva drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single and Rod Carew went 3-for-5 to boost his average to .405 and regain the American League lead from Jackson.

Liberty, RH Score

KINGSTON — Division champions Red Hook and Liberty tuned up Tuesday for the scheduled start today of the Ulster County Athletic League baseball playoffs with regular season-ending wins.

Liberty, the Division I titlist, rallied to edge Fallsburgh, 3-1, while Division II champ Red Hook topped Onteora, 4-3. In another game, Marlboro beat Coleman, 4-1.

Liberty is to play Wallkill, the Division III champ, today at Rondout Valley in the ployoff opener. Red Hook meets "wild card" winner Rondout Valley Thursday at Marlboro. The survivors square off next Tuesday for the league championship.

The Redskins spotted Fallsburgh a 1-0 first inniag lead, but then pitcher Dave Woods closed the door on the Comets. Liberty came back with one in the fifth on a Phil Fanning single which knocked in Harry Kaiser, and two in the sixth on an error and a Ted Zee single.

Onteora, which defeated New Paltz Saturday to eliminate the Hugies from the playoff picture, rode a first inning two-run homer by Al Johnson and another run in the second to grab a 3-1 lead. But Red Hook puled it out with three in the fifth on RBI hits by Jim Minkler and Matt King.

Greg Moon's homer was all Coleman could muster against Marlboro. A two-run double by Jim Pagano and bases loaded walk to Joe Porpiglia were the big plays for Marlboro.

Bushmen Trip Onteora

KYSERIKE — Pine Bush High leap-frogged Onteora in the final UCAL track and field standings Tuesday and claimed second place by virtue of a 77½ to 63½ victory.

Onteora beat Rondout, 74-67, in the other half of the double-dual pairing.

Onteora was without several of its top performers against Pine Bush as the victors finished the campaing with 17 points in the standings to the Indians' 15

Coleman Defeats KHS As Martin Leads Way

KINGSTON — Senior Dick Martin, who had been playing out of the No. 8 spot all season, shot a 39 at Twaalsfkill Tuesday, his best round ever, to help Coleman High School to an upset 169-171 varsity golf victory over city rival Kingston High.

Martin tied with teammate A J. Maneen for medalist honors as the Statesmen beat the Maroons for the first time in golf. Previously, only the Coleman cross country team had beaten KHS in a varsity sport.

"I really am elated," said Coleman coach Bill DuBois. "That Martin really had a tremendous round."

Jeff Kelly's 44 and Steve Dulin's 47 backed up the scores recorded by Martin and Maneen.

Jeff Werbalowsly led Kingston with 41. Randy Spiesman and Herb Kantor each came in with a 43, and Bill Reilly added a 44.

In another match Tuesday, Saugerties beat Roosevelt, 179-182, at Sawyerkill.

The Sawyers were led by Chris Lulev and Warren Yetter, each with 43s. Al Roos' 44 and Dave Heineck's 49 rounded out the scoring.

Mark Miller paced Roosevelt with a 43, Mark Bendyk had a 44, Scott Miller a 46, and Ron Clarke a 49.

Red Hook Nears Net Title

RED HOOK — Red Hook High School, on the verge of clinching its third Athletic League tennis championship, whipped visiting Coleman, 4-1, Tuesday.

The Raiders, who have won the only two UCAL net crowns ever contested, have an 8-1 record. All Coach Ed Roberts is waiting for is confirmation that the 1974 title is his. With all the early season rainouts and rescheduled matches, even he isn't sure about the league standings.

"I think Liberty is second with a 6-3 record," he offered. If that's the case, Red Hook has already clinched.

Coleman won the day's opening match when John Farrell blanked Bruce, Magley, 8-0. But after that it was all Red Hook as John Sypek beat Pete Lyle, 8-4; Dick Totman stopped Mary Lynn Bock, 8-4; Holly Patrick and Tom Griffen ousted Jim Kocsis and Bill Knott, 8-3; and Greg Martin and John Graham blanked Jack Heitzman and Mike Haggerty, 8-0.

Coleman has a league record of 2-6.

BIG TEE SHOT—House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill (D-Mass.) reacts with amazement as Vice President Ford slams a hard tee shot on the firts hole during their private golf match at Raintree Country Club in Charlotte, N. C. Tuesday. O'Neill had just dubbed his shot 30 yards. (UPI)

Garr Picked

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ralph Garr was named National League Player of the Week Wednesday by President Charles S. Feeney for the second time this season.

Garr batted 11 for 18 for a .611 average and finished the week with seven straight hits including two triples, two home runs and five runs scored in five contests.

Coming close in stiff competition was: Cincinnati's Joe Morgan, who hit .520 (13 for 25); Los Angeles' Steve Garvey, who holds the N.L. lead in RBI's and had 10 for the week; and San Diego's Bobby Tolan, who hit .414 (12 for 29).

Sanford Hits 543

Ben Sanford led Friday Night Mixed Summer League with 223-543. Eileen Scanlan and Juanita McMillan tied with 499s in the women's divisions. Team highs: Some Did It, Some Couldn't, 684-1998.

Superfix Suspect Only Pretending

NEW YORK (AP) — An attorney for Forrest Gerry Jr. says Gerry only pretended to fix superfecta harness races in order to raise money for legitimate bets with the city Off-Track Betting Corp.

Attorney Edward Bobick said Tuesday that "Gerry was a smart handicapper, with a good con, who found a way to make money through Off-Track Betting."

However, Bobick added, Gerry had to appear to be a fixer to entice others into supplying the money needed for the superfecta bets, in which a winner must name the first four horses in the order that they finish a race.

Bobick and other defense attorneys delivered their summations in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn, where Gerry is among eight purported gamblers and eight harness race drivers accused of fixing 43 races run last year.

The prosecution says Gerry masterminded a scheme in which the defendants netted $1 million, as the drivers were paid to hold their horses out of the first four places and the gamblers bet the combinations of the remaining horses.

Bobick said Gerry was "one of the greatest handicappers in the world," but knew no one else would supply money for the superfecta bets if they knew he was a good bettor.

Jipcho Aiming For Fast Mile

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ben Jipcho will be shooting at a sub-four-minute mile and Steve Smith at an 18-foot-plus pole vault tonight in feature events of the World Professional Track Championships at Madison Square Garden.

A crowd of about 15,000 is expected at the closing meeting of the International Track Association's indoor season.

Jipcho, who has the second fastest outdoor mile in history to his credit, is the favorite in a field which includes four other runners who have been flirting with four minutes this season—Jim Ryun, Keith Munson, Sam Bair and Chuck LaBenz. Jipcho's best indoor efort this season was 4:00.6 but he said Tuesday he felt is ready for a sub-four-minute performance.

Smith and Bob Seagren are the favorites in the pole vault with both confident they will exceed 18 feet. In fact, Smith said Tuesday that both he and Seagren might break the existing mark of 18 feet, 1¾ inchesby three or four inches.

"We're really working on 19 feet these days," he said, "with a possible 20-foot vault not as far away as most people think."

Acqua Wash Rally Edges Mahoney's in Slo Pitch

KINGSTON — Acqua Wash scored four runs in the top of the eighth, then shut off Mahoney's Pub at three runs in the bottom half to eke out an 11-10 win in the Swing Division of the City Slo Pitch League.

In other action, Jeff's Place rallied with eight runs in the sixth to down Orange County Plumbing 10-7; Ray Blume pitched a 6-hitter, as Stephan's Foxhall Corp. checked Jones TV, 7-3; Hess Gasoline won over Sea Deli 4-2; and Canfield's scored in every turn at bat to trounce Elmendorf Brothers, 16-4.

Home run hitters included Noel Amell, Bo Vitarius, John Cruz, John Carter and Rob Hull.

Bud Jablonski had four singles and Vic Wazewski a trio for Mahoney's. Jim Garrison fashioned a double and two singles for Acqua Wash. Bill Ose of Jeff's and John Webster of Orange County hit three singles apiece.

Larry Woerner rapped two doubles and a single and Rocky Secreto a double and two singles for Canfield's.

Plan Developed to Combat Siltation in the Esopus

By STEVE KANE

A plan to combat turbidity in the Esopus watershed was presented Tuesday night to local sportsmen's groups by William Kelly, Regional Fisheries Manager of the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation at the Conservation Office here.

Kelly outlined the results of a recent survey taken of the Esopus from its headwaters to the Ashokan Reservoir and pinpointed the sites where natural erosion is fouling the stream. He gave Fred Faerber president of the Ulster County Federated Sportsmen's Clubs, and Ed Ostapczuk, president of the Catskill Chapter of Trout Unlimited, maps of the findings along with detailed solutions for the problems.

Siltation has long been a battel cry of Ulster County environmentalists, and while much of the clamor has concerned the sediment that flows from the portal at Allaben, this is not the only source of mud in the waters of Esopus Creek. While the portal was closed, Kelly led a small team to inspect the state of turbidity in the watershed.

They found the Silver Hollow area to be the source of about 75 per cent of the problem. Kelly pointed out eight different trouble spots along a 1.5 mile stretch of the tributary consisting of exposed banks and uprooted trees.

As the small resources of the Conservation Department are too far extended to cope with these problems, Kelly turned the proposed solutions over to the sportsmen.

"It's a long range project, no question about it," Kelly said, "but I truly believe it can be solved."

The project itself is a large undertaking for the sportsmen. Some heavy equipment, fieldstone and warm bodies are among the commodities they will have to produce, but even before that acess to the stream is necessary. Easements from land owners along the entire section will have to be obtained.

The survey was taken under ideal conditions, according to Kelly. The portal was off, and the water level was up, so all visible turbidity was natural. The team found the headwaters clear as far as Big Indian, and from that point to Phoenicia found the main stream only slightly turbid and the tributaries all acceptable.

From Phoenicia to Boiceville, however, the water was turbid. The team backtracked until it located the source of the problem in the Silver Hollow area.

Now the sportsmen are faced with activating the plan, and that has some tricky complications. Since county, state and even possibly federal funds may be implemented, some public access to the improved stream will be necessary. Some resistance from property owners is expected, but considering the minimal fishing pressure such a small stream would experience along with the greater benefits to the entire watershed the project would produce, the sportsmen considered the obstacle surmountable.

A target date of late June was set to begin work. That is the earliest stream conditions would permit. In the meantime the sportsmen have to come up with the ways and means. A small bulldozer or a bucket loader, trucks and chain saws are the main pieces of necessary equipment. Most sites have enough materials for the jobs, and manpower should be the smallest problem. Josh Randall of the Ulster County Temporary Manpower Council also attended the meeting to assess his organization's possible role in the project.

Such a volunteer effort might take as long as ten years to complete, but Kelly pointed out the tremendous ecological benefits it would provide to "some of the finest natural trout streams in New York State."

As a sidelight, Kelly also noted that some progress with the City of New York, which controls the operation of the portal as part of its water system, may also soon be realized. Plans to regulate the discharge of the portal more carefully have been accepted by the City. Instead of the usual full blast of 300 cubic feet per second that normally roars from the portal and drastically affects ecological balance in the Esopus, the new procedure involves a gentler flow increase spanning a two day period.

Park Diner, Jameson Leaders in Quads

KINGSTON — Park Diner and Joan Jameson shared honors in the Bowlerama Quads bowling league's 1973-74 pennant race. The Diner squad won 68 games and lost 40 to win the team championship by a eight-game margin over the runnerup Jameson-Moore, Inc. team.

Mrs. Moore had the highest individual average — 170.75 for 108 games and the league high series of 629. Kay Yaple's 258 earned high single honors. Mrs. Jameson also had a 600 and Gloria Nagele 604.

Team scratch highs were Ferraro's Bowlerama 750 and Jameson-Moore, Inc. 2128; team handicap: Augustine Insurance 834 and Morgan Linen 834.

Barbara Van Keuren was runnerup in averages with 168.17. Gloria Nagele posted 167.87, Gloria Daley 165.2 and Perla Bollin 163.61 to round out the top five.

League officers for the 1974-75 season are: Kathy Diamond, president; Lucille Steen, vice president; Judy Helsley, secretary; Snookie Lowe, treasurer; Elinor Burberg, sergeant-at-arms.

Bi-Valley Swim For Five Teams

RED HOOK — The Bi-Valley Swim League has reorganized to include teams from Salisbury, Conn. and St. Mary's of Wappingers Falls, Hyde Park, Middletown and Red Hook are the remaining teams. Marlboro and Pawling will not be in the league this summer.

The league season opens on July 10 and concludes with a two-day championship, Aug. 20-21. The championship meet site will be slected by a committee including Mary Damm, Don Hoch and Mel Phillips.

Harold Dike, Middletown YMCA coach, has been elected president of the league. Fred Schultz of Red Hook was named vice president. Mel Phillips of Hyde Park was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The league will recognize the team with the best won and lost record as the Dual Meet Champion. The overall league championship will be determined by team performance in the championship meet.

Had 147 Average

Shirley Christiana rolled a 147 average for 81 games in the New Drop bowling league. Her name was inadvertantly omitted from the season's final summary.

Michelle McLane—Cycle Plus

HURLEY — Michelle McLane, first baseman for the Hurley Mountain Inn team in the Hurley Girls Softball League, staged a perfect "5 for 5" performance, as the inn trounced Conti's Insurance.

Miss McLane slammed a homer, triple, double and two singles for the cycle-plus and knocked in five runs. Teammate Midge Fiore accounted for four runs batted in with a grand slam homer and two singles. Joanne Johnson added three singles.

Cheri Joseph slammed a solo homer for Conti's.

In the Kingston National girls softball league, Pam Lindsley's two doubles and a single paced Team B to a 31-12 rout of Team C.

In Little League action, John Kivlin of Canfield Supply Dodgers blasted a grand slam homer and triple to pace his team to a 12-5 romp over Canfield Electric Giants in the Kingston National.

Duane Clinton pitched and batted Augustine Insurance over Smedes Plumbing and Heating 6-0 in the Kingston American. He helped his own cause with a homer.

Name Martin President Of Tennis Association

KINGSTON — A new tennis season is at hand and the Kingston Area Tennis Association (KATA) is looking ahead to the biggest season in its history membership and tournament wise.

At its May reorganization meeting, the association elected George Martin president; Nan Slutsky, first vice president; Ron Schoonmaker, second vice president.

Rose Koplovitz was elected secretary and Barbara Badalato, treasurer. Members of the board of directors are: Sue Dean, Paula Hutton, Bob Dittus, Rich Griffin, Jerry Leatherman and Pete Zeeh.

Plans and prospects were reviewed and committees designated. Some key committees are: Membership, Sue Dean; social, Nan Slutsky; publicity, Kal Kalleberg, Sunday Tournaments; Ron Schoonmaker and Pete Zeeh.

"KATA continues to promote tennis enjoyment in Kingston and surrounding areas," said president Martin. "It also provides opportunities for involvement in various tennis activities and events."

Members are enthusiastic about new mini-tournaments starting June 2nd. As in the past, there will be youth programs, county tournaments and various get-togethers starting May 31.

Interested persons may write KATA, UPO Box 555, Kingston, 12401 or call Sue Dean.

KSC Re-elects Schoch; Names Davis New Coach

MORGAN HILL — Kingston Sports Club, sponsors of the Kickers soccer team has re-elected its president and appointed a new coach. Kurt Schoch returns as repeat president and Bob Davis has replaced veteran Kicker star Jimmy Reinhardt as the new team coach.

Other officers efected at the annual meeting were: Henry Biergans, vice president; Mrs. Evelyn Konjas, secretary; Otto Scherrieble, treasurer. Bill Oehler was named trustee and Oskar Benzenhoefer, league delegate.

Reinhardt, one of the all-time great performers in Kickers history, had to relinquish his coaching duties because of the increasing pressure of business.

Davis is a well known soccer figure in Ulster County and a former Kickers player. He is one of the motivating factors in the Hudson Valley Junior League.

The Kickers have tentatively scheduled a light summer slate as a warmup to its return to the League Division of the German-American Soccer Association in September.

Games are tentatively scheduled on July 21 and July 26. The annual fixture — Mid-Hudson Soccer Tournament — is scheduled Aug. 11 and Aug. 18.

Weekly workouts continue every Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Dietz Stadium.

The Sports Club will again sponsor a junior team in the Mid-Hudson League this summer.

Two Youths Are Arrested

LAKE KATRINE — Two teenagers who had allegedly burglarized six bungalows on Van Etten Lane in Lake Katrine Tuesday afternoon were arrested by state police and Ulster Town Constables a short time later.

The youths, ages 15 and 16, both of Saugerties, were charged with six counts each of third degree burglary. They were not identified because of their ages.

Troopers said a quantity of money and other items taken in the alleged thefts were recovered. Troopers processed the youths after constables picked them up.

Manwhile, city detectives are investigating two burglaries in which a total of more than $1,000 in cash, liquor and cigarettes was reported taken.

A break-in at the Walnut Grove, Field Court, was reported Tuesday. Detectives said thieves forced the front door, and made off with an estimated $130 in change from a juke box and a cigarette machine, nine cases of liquor valued at $725, and a large quantity of cigarettes valued at $300.

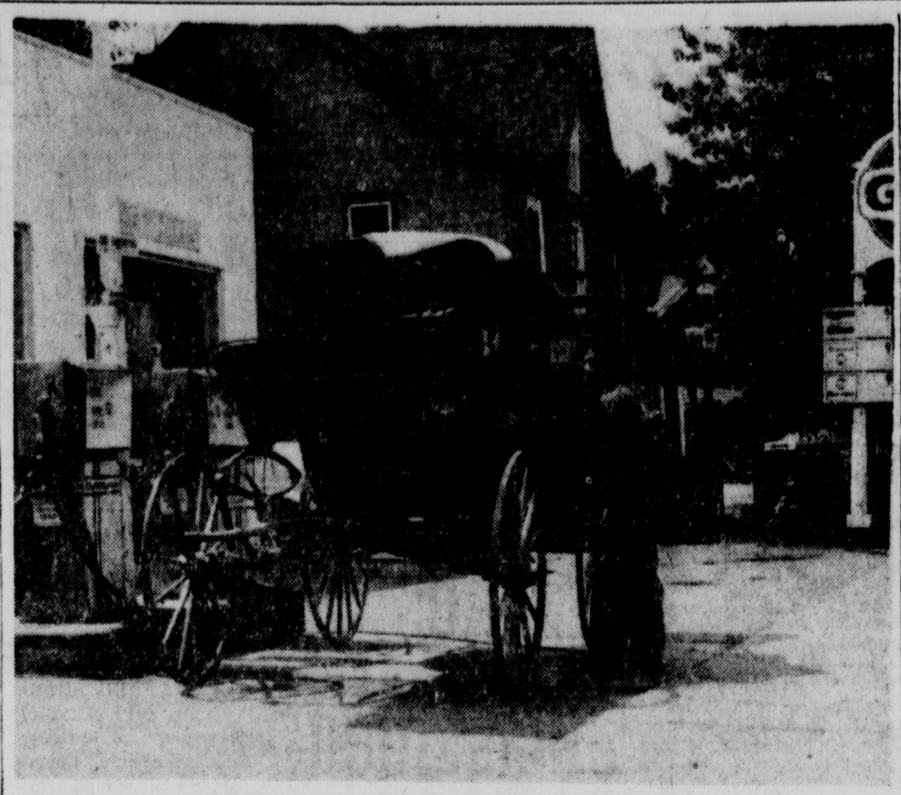

Early today a door at Perry's Arco Station, 316 Broadway was discovered open by a policeman on routine patrol.

Detectives said the owner, Arthur Ferraro, reported $390 in cash missing from the cash register after being called to the scene.

Investigation of both burglaries is continuing.

Flea Market

The Hurley Library Association will participate in the Kingston Plaza Merchants Flea Market Saturday, June 1 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Donations of books for both this event and for the forthcoming Stone House Day book sale are being collected at this time. Books may be left at the library during regular hours. Pick up can be arranged if necessary by contacting the library.

NOT MUCH GAS, EITHER — This vehicle at the gas pumps needs no gas, oil, tire check or engine attention. All this pre-1840 luxury coach needed was a new interior and paint which it got at this service station in Middletown. Its next stop is a private museum in New Jersey. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Trial of Policeman Continues

NEW YORK (UPI) — A babyfaced patrolman faces a grueling day on the witness stand today in the murder trial of police officer Thomas Shea as the prosecution tries to break his story that Shea shot and killed a 10-year-old boy in self-defense.

The witness, officer Walter Scott, Shea's former partner, Tuesday backed up Shea's story nearly word for word.

He said Shea shot the boy, Clifford Grover, when the youth wheeled on him with a gun. No gun was ever found, but the defense has argued that the boy's stepfather, Add Armstead, disposed of it.

Assistant District Attorney Thomas Demakos has asked that tape records of police radio transmissions on the morning of the shooting, April 28 last year, be played for the jury.

State Supreme Court Justice Bernard Dubin said he would rule on the request when the trial resumes today.

Demakos, shouting at times, pressed the witness Tuesday on what happened immediately after the boy was shot in a vacant South Jamaica lot.

Scott said he was standing near the boy with his gun in his hand and young Clifford murmured "Don't shoot. Don't shoot."

Question: "Did you say anything to him in return.

Answer: "No, sir."

Q: "Did you curse him?"

A: "No, sir."

The day's proceedings left the jury with the problem of who to believe —Scott or Armstead.

Armstead has testified that he and the boy thought Shea and Scott were muggers and ran from them when Shea jumped from his unmarked patrol car.

Librarian's Death Puzzles Police

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives today appeared to be having a difficult time determining the circumstances of the death of Anne Berolzheimer, a popular 23-year-old career girl found strangled in her Manhattan apartment.

When she failed to report Tuesday for her job as a librarian at the Dell Publishing Co., worried co-workers alerted police who found her body in her East Side studio apartment.

She had been gagged with a pair of panty hose and was nude from the waist down. Deputy Chief City Medical Examiner Michael Baden said a preliminary examination indicated she had been raped.

Detectives said her apartment was in disarray, but there were no signs of forced entry. There were double locks on the door and the locked front door of the apartment house could be opened only by a tenant who used a key or pressed a buzzer.

Lt. James Gallagher of the Fourth District Homicide Squad said Miss Berolzheimer left the Massapequa Park, N.Y. home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Berolzheimer, about 8 p.m. Monday night after a Memorial Day visit. Police were not immediately able to trace her subsequent activities.

One neighbor said she thought she heard a door close in the apartment. But the next-door neighbor, Geraldine Fitzgerald, said there was nothing unusual about the apartment being quiet. Other neighbors said they saw or heard nothing.

Miss Fitzgerald said the slain woman, a "lovely person," kept to herself, painting and doing tapestries. She added that Miss Berolzheimer usually kept regular hours.

A long-standing neighbor of the Berolzheimers in Massapequa Park, Mrs. Grace Miller, described the petite, brown-haired woman as "a lovely girl, just as sweet as you can imagine. She was polite and kind. She was quiet, she was thoughtful."

"She was absolutely reliable, just a pearl of an employe, said Miss Berolzheimer's supervisor at the publishing firm, Mrs. Virgil Bayne.

Miss Berolzheimer went to Massapequa High School and Windham College in Putnam, Vt., graduating in 1972. She immediately went to work for Dell.

City Police Arrest Trio

KINGSTON — Three teenagers who allegedly accosted a youth in the driveway of Kingston High School Tuesday afternoon and made off with $28 were arrested a short time later by city police and charged with third degree robbery.

Charged were Willie Redd, 17, of 7 Wurts Street, Sanford B. Parker, 16, of 24 Furnace Street and Dino W. Bullock, 17, of 2 Post Street.

According to police, the trio allegedly robbed Patrick McDonough, 16, of 26 Shufeldt Street, Kingston atabout 4:15 p. m. The alleged attack was witnessed by a correction officer who happened to be walking nearby, police said.

Arraigned before Special City Judge George A. Beck, the three teenagers were confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $2,500 bail each pending reappearnces in court today.

Two Youths Are Nabbed

KINGSTON — Two New Jersey youths, who were allegedly attempting to syphon gasoline out of cars parked behind Britts in the Kingston Shopping Plaza Tuesday afternoon, were caught by Britts security personnel . . . after a lengthy foot chase.

According to security personnel, the youths had apparently parked their car on Col. Chandler Drive. After being spotted in the parking lot, they were chased to the car parked on Col. Chandler Drive and held there for police.

Charles E. Kimball, 17, and Joseph J. McCallin Jr., 17, both of Hammonton, N. J., were charged with the attempt to commit the crime of petit larceny.

Appearing in city court today before Judge Hubert A. Richter, the two youths pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of disorderly conduct. They were fined $10 each and given a conditional discharge—the condition being that they leave the area.

Fire Levels Tire Mart

HUDSON, N. Y. (AP) — Fire destroyed the Hudson Tire Mart near here early today, officials said.

Fire officials estimated the damages to total a quarter million dollars. They termed the origin suspicious.

Hoffman House

An article in Tuesday's Freeman was incorrect in attributing the restoration work on the Hoffman House at North Front and Green Street to Axel Johansen. The work was done by the firm of James H. Schoonmaker and Son Inc. Kingston architect Albert E. Milliken drew up the specifications and supervised the work for the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency. Johansen is responsible for the Pike Plan work on Wall Street and the restoration of the Tremper House at 3 North Front Street.

Troopers Bust Pot Party

WAWARSING

A 22-year-old burglary victim who apparently decided to try to forget his miseries after reporting the theft to state police found himself and six companions faced with worse problems early today when troopers returned to the burglary scene and allegedly found a pot party in progress.

Troopers said Wayne Arnold of Wawarsing told them at about 1 a.m. today that his home on Jennie Brook Road had been entered and that three guns and a stereo were taken. Police went to the Arnold home, obtained the initial information needed for their investigation, and left.

At about 3:30 a.m. troopers returned to Arnold's home for more information, only to find that a pot party was allegedly being held.

Arrested on charges of seventh degree possession of a controlled substance (marijuana) were Arnold, Kim Decker, 19, of Kerhonkson, Bobby R. Clark, 21, of Kerhonkson, Nelson A. Hill, 18, of Napanoch, Richard M. Deyo, 19, of Wawarsing, Sandra L. Countryman, 18, of Accord, and Glen Whitney, 21, of Accord.

Police said a small quantity of alleged marijuana was seized.

Arraigned before Wawarsing Town Justice Joseph Polonsky, the seven persons were all released in their own recognizance pending a June 3 reappearance in court.

Meanwhile, the investigation of the burglary continues.

Indians Slated

The Kingston Indians Drum Corps will participate in the 11th annual Fort Plain Old Fashioned Days Saturday, June 1. Return to Yesteryear is the theme of the two day celebration under the auspices of the Fort Plain-Nelliston Merchants Association. The parade will be at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Solidarity Day Set

KINGSTON

Mayor Francis R. Koenig has declared Sunday, June 2, as "National Solidarity Day for Soviet Jewry" in the City of Kingston.

Noting the lack of freedom for Soviet Jews, Koenig said the day would serve "to remind us of the indestructible link that exists between us."

Your Astrograph

Thursday, May 30

ARIES (Mar. 21-April 19) Later you'll regret the harsh way you handled a close personal relationship. Kind words will be needed to patch it up.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A task facing you will be made easier if you think about rewards you'll be getting, rather than the present inconvenience.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) That little green imp of envy will pop up today when you compare your material situation to another's. You'll put him in his place.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There are certain domestic responsibilities you'd like to shrug off today. Your nobler instinct won't permit it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're in for a surprise. Something you've already made up your mind about negatively will turn out to be positive in nature.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A friend is in need of something you have. You wish she could borrow it elsewhere. You'll loan what's needed and like yourself for it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will adjust your thinking regarding a self-interest you're pursuing after you realize how one-way you're behaving.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The early part of the day will be rather restrictive, accompanied by some small frustrations. Hang in there. Things get better later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A serious matter where you share an interest with an outsider still needs a solution. An unbiased third party is going to be helpful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Even though you can't get the co-operation you need for something you want to accomplish, you'll find an alternative.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're much too close to a problem that's confronting you. Get a fresh opinion from one whose advice you trust.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'll be tempted to make excuses in order to dodge a responsibility. However, much to your credit you'll face up to it.

May 30, 1974

your birthday

The early part of this year will require prudent handling of your finances so that later you'll be able to do all the fun things that will pop up.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SEX: (Q) I have been taught that sexual intercourse is for reproduction only and should be practiced for that purpose only. Have I been taught right?—Girl, 15, in Texas.

(A.) No. Sexual intercourse has a number of purposes, rewards and values besides reproduction.

Your school counselor, your family doctor, and any religious leaders in your life should be helpful in explaining worthwhile aspects of sex that you'll need to know about and understand as you mature into womanhood.

FRIENDS: (Q) When I met Terry I thought I had found the friend I was looking for. I was wrong.

Terry has another friend who is just about my age. I am jealous of him because I know Terry favors him more than me.

I believe two friends should do things some time by themselves and alone, like go over to someone's house and throw a baseball around.

I don't think Terry can do that with me. I don't think he cares enough.—Nobody in New Jersey.

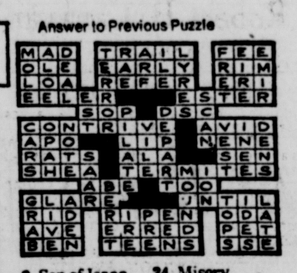

(A.) It is good to be alone with a friend on occasion, but you must not be selfish about Terry's other friends. It is healthy to have more than one friend, and if you will accept this fact you can keep Terry as a friend and maybe make friends of his other friends too.

And you are not a nobody. Nobody is a nobody.

Opening lead—♠Q

South's five-card club suit and two 10 spots justify his one notrump opening. West makes the unfriendly lead of the spade queen and South stops to count tricks. He has six top winners and can produce three more by dropping the club queen doubleton or finding West with the heart queen.

The second chance is better than the first but Reese and Dormer point out that South can try both plays. He should start by playing out his ace and king of clubs.

He does this and the queen drops. Now he leads a third club to dummy's jack. The only normal entry back to his hand is his second high spade but South has nothing to lose by leading a heart.

A very alert East might hop up with the queen and hold South to three notrump but most Easts will play low and South will wind up with at least four notrump.

Why is it correct to try the clubs before attacking hearts? Because if the heart is led and a trick lost to East's queen a second spade will be played. This will leave South with no way to get back to his hand to cash the last clubs.

ANNOUNCES RESIGNATION — A grim-faced Brian Faulkner, chief minister of Northern Ireland's Governing Council, announces his resignation and that of five other unionist members of the council in Belfast, Ireland. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

UWC Workers Drifting Back to Jobs

Northern Ireland Strike Ends

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Protestant extremist Ulster Workers' Council called off today a 15-day general strike which paralyzed Northern Ireland's economy and brought down the British province's moderate government.

The UWC announced that it was asking workers to drift back to their jobs, with heavy industry resuming production probably on Monday.

The announcement came as Prime Minister Harold Wilson called a meeting in London with his cabinet to discuss ways to solve the crisis in the province prompted by the resignation on Tuesday of Protestant members of Chief Minister Brian Faulkners' Executive, the provincial government.

Leaders of the walkout gave no immediate reason for calling it off. The move reversed early extremist pledges not to return to work until Wilson made his announcement on the provincial administration.

Strike leaders wanted an end to Northern Ireland's first attempt at sharing power between its Protestant majority and its Roman Catholic minority. They got it, at least temporarily.

Catholic members of the Executive refused to resign, but a British government statement said the provincial administration could not function without Protestants.

In London, political sources said Prime Minister Harold Wilson was desperately anxious that power-sharing should continue in the embattled province. He called a meeting of senior ministers to consider a way out of the crisis.

When the coalition took office Jan. 1, it was heralded as a political organ to end centuries of feuding between Catholics and Protestants in the six counties. Politicians saw its downfall as a major and perhaps fatal setback to Britain's elaborate peace plan.

One solution available to Wilson under the Constitution Act of 1973 would be for Britain to nominate a caretaker government of politicians willing to serve along with senior civil servants, businessmen and labor union leaders.

This seemed unlikely to satisfy Protestant militants, however, demanding new elections to the Provincial Assembly, which they believe would reimpose Protestant rule in the province.

A spokesman for the Ulster Workers' Council, key group behind the strike, said the protest would continue until assurances are given of new elections.

Nevertheless, the strikers backed off their threat completely to shut down essential services. They restored household gas supplies today, said electric power supplies would be kept at a safe level and sent men back to operate water and sewage systems. Bakeries and dairies were told to resume normal deliveries.

But the militants' grip on industry continued unabated.

Faulkner's departure set off a big victory celebration in hard-line Protestant areas of Belfast and other towns.

The strikers viewed coalition with the Catholics as a concession to the guerrilla gunmen of the Irish Republican Army, which for years has waged a bombing campaign intended to break the province's links with Britain. More than 1,030 people have died in almost five years of riots and bombing.

During the strike the IRA has been unusually quiet.

Liam Cosgrave, the Irish Republic's prime minister, bitterly denounced the IRA as responsible for the collapse of the power-sharing system in the north.

'Continuity, Change,' Promise to Israel

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Yitzhak Rabin today promised "continuity and change" as Israel's next prime minister, unveiling a new cabinet marked by the absence of three key architects of past policy.

Rabin, a former general who led Israel's 1967 war victory and served as ambassador to Washington, presented his 20-member coalition cabinet list to President Ephraim Katzir late Tuesday just before a midnight deadline.

The new cabinet left out Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, Foreign Minister Abba Eban and Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir, the engineers of military, foreign and economic policy in Prime Minister Golda Meir's outgoing government.

Rabin, 52, and the nation's first native-born premier, included in his cabinet 15 ministers who had served in Mrs. Meir's regime. Dayan and Eban refused to serve under Rabin because of personality clashes and policy differences.

Information Minister Shimon Peres replaced Dayan and Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon succeeded Eban. Ya'kov Levinson, a political unknown, took over from Sapir.

Rabin used the phrase "continuity and change" to sum up his cabinet.

He said the new government would be "a continuation of the achievements and work of Mrs. Meir, a prime minister who stood upright in such a difficult time and reached wondrous accomplishments."

At the same time, he said, "the government will be one of change amid a striving to alter those things that require change...in the fields of security and foreign affairs, social problems and many others."

Gold, Silver Smuggled

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Turkish official claims a collection of early Greek gold and silver at the Metropolitan Museum of Art was smuggled out of Turkey, it was learned Tuesday.

Thomas P. F. Hoving, director of the museum, did not say how the collection was acquired, but offered to discuss returning the objects if it can be proved they came from Turkey.

Both the official and the museum director appear on an ABC-TV News Closeup program, titled "The Culture Thieves," to be broadcast Thursday night.

Bourhan Tezcan, Turkey's deputy director of antiquities, said he had seen the collection in the United States in 1973. He said many of the objects were stylistically identical to a gold and silver horde he excavated at a Lydian culture site in Turkey.

"Half of the objects are in my hand, and half are outside of Turkey in the Metropolitan Museum," Tezcan said.

At first, Hoving said the museum paid $1.7 million for the treasures. Later the Met asked ABC to lower the quoted price to $1,114,500. This still was more than three times the previous figure made public.

The collection consists of 189 pieces and includes jewelry, bowls, jars, ewers and ladles. Only five of the pieces have been publicly exhibited — at a Centennial museum showing in 1970.

Hoving said the collection dated from the sixth century B.C. and was purchased in three lots, in 1967, 1968 and 1969.

Gaullists... Minor Role

PARIS (UPI) — President Valery Giscard d'Estaing called a meeting with his new cabinet today to map a "new era" for France, leaving the Gaullist party a minority role in the government for the first time in 16 years.

Giscard d'Estaing and his new premier, Jacques Chirac, allowed Gaullists five cabinet posts out of a total 16. The Gaullists had 11 in the last government.

The president broke with tradition by naming 12 cabinet newcomers, including nonpolitical "technicians" to head the Foreign Affairs, Finance, Education and Health Ministries.

Political observers said the nomination of career "technicians" indicated the new president would keep tight control over the government. Giscard d'Estaing was elected on a reform plank and promised a "new era" in French politics.

Jean Sauvagnargues, a 59-year-old career diplomat serving as ambassador to West Germany, was named foreign minister to replace Michel Jobert, the acid-tongued, often solitary opponent of U.S. policy.

The new cabinet gave a majority of seats to representatives of moderate political factions supporting Giscard d'Estaing's presidential candidacy as well as to his own party, the conservative Independent Republicans.
